Father Devine, About 70, Marries Pretty Blonde, 21, in Name Only

WASHINGTON (CP)—Father Divine, self-styled "God" and negro evangelist who assumed the mantle of "immortality" in 1932 as the leader of a religious cult, married a beautiful, blonde 21-year-old white girl from Montreal last April 29, but he tells shrieking followers it's "in name only."

The marriage to Miss Edna Rose Ritchings, better known to followers of the cult in Montreal by her spiritual name of "Sweet Angel," performed by Rev. Albert L. Shadd, Canadian-born Baptist minister, was revealed Wednesday.

Divine, entertaining members of his cult at a wedding banquet in Philadelphia Wednesday night, told the chanting, shrieking guests that his late first wife—Mother Divine—had approved the marriage.

License records show that Divine gave his age as 41, his status as widower, his address as Philadelphia. He told his followers his first wife and he were married "on June 6, 1882." Divine is generally believed to be close to 70 years old.

Divine's new wife sat unmoved at the wedding banquet occasionally murmuring aloud the word "Peace." "Peace, it's wonderful" is the motto of her husband's cult.

Divine insisted that he placed the spirit of his first wife—described as "An Aunt Jemima-like woman"—in the person of his second wife, and then shouted that the new marriage, like the old one, was "in name only."

"God is not married," he sermonized. "It's beautiful," "thank you, father," "it's true," screamed his followers, chanting and singing and clapping their hands.

Divine's various properties are known as "Heavens" and whose followers take such names as "Prodigious Son," "Tree of Life," "Miss Charity," etc.

Since 1942, when Divine moved out of New York's Harlem section, accusing New Yorkers of

Sidney Water Board Halts Sprinkling As Main Leaks

SIDNEY—Heavy leakage in the mains, depleting stored water too rapidly has resulted in the prohibiting of all sprinkling until further notice, according to an announcement of the Sidney Waterworks district.

Heavy equipment on the roads, made necessary by the long-wanted repairs, is wreaking havoc with the old wooden pipes, which have outlived their usefulness according to one report.

Government engineers and workmen are working in co-operation with the Water District, but the old pipe cannot stand the heavy pressure of large tractors. The number of gallons of water pumped in July gives an idea of the leakage. In July, 1945, a total of 2,963,940 gallons was pumped, an average of 95,600 gallons per day.

This year in July, 3,851,560 gallons, or an average of 125,240 gallons per day was pumped. An increase of more than 29,000 gallons per day.

Water Board officials estimate that 50,000 gallons per day should serve the requirements of the present water users of Sidney. The inference is thus given that leakage, due to old pipes, is 75,000 gallons per day, or more than enough water to serve the entire community.

Nanaimo To Get Water Rights

NANAIMO—The city council has been informed by Hon. G. S. Pearson that the city would have the first opportunity of obtaining water license rights at Westwood Lake for storage purposes. The B.C. Power Commission, he stated, would retain their license there until after the Campbell River power project is completed. The commission was willing to co-operate with the city in event of a reservoir being required by the city, he added. They would not abandon their license until after consulting with the city.

Funeral Rites Today For Nanaimo Resident

NANAIMO—Funeral services were held this afternoon, from the Westwood Hirst Funeral Home, for the late Thomas Henry Hodgkinson, well-known resident of Nanaimo, who passed away at his home, 559 Rosehill Avenue, Monday evening after a lengthy illness. Born in Atherton, Lancashire, England, he was 57 years of age and came to Nanaimo 34 years ago and has resided here ever since.

For many years he had been employed by the local mines and during the war was watchman for the Newcastle Shipbuilding Co.

prejudice and misrecognition," he has made his headquarters in Philadelphia.

Divine, who has been identified by the courts as George Baker, Georgia-born, first appeared in New York as "The Messenger" before the First Great War. Later he established his first "Heaven" in Sayville, L.I., which evicted him as a nuisance in the early 1930s. During the depression years he built up a huge following in Harlem.

He usually visits Harlem now only on Sunday, a day when the civil courts cannot serve a summons. Since 1942 a former woman "Angel" has tried unsuccessfully to collect a $6,000 judgment for savings she said, she entrusted to him.

Sidney, Salt Spring To Stage Regattas

SIDNEY—A "bathing beauty in reverse" contest will be among the novel events planned for the regatta to be held by the Women's Recreational Club of North Saanich at the Chalet, Deep Cove, Aug. 19.

Prizes will be awarded for the most old-fashioned type of bathing suits for men and women. "Damsel in distress" competition will require a boy and a girl to dress in water, swim back together and when ashore for the girl to scream.

An umbrella race will be won by the contestant who arrives first after swimming a 25-yard distance with an open umbrella.

Two "1st Annual" Regattas will be held in the district this month when the Women's Recreational Club of North Saanich and the Salt Spring Island Athletic Club stage their aquatic sports.

The Salt Spring Island Regatta is slated for Aug. 21, at Vesuvius Bay and the Recreational Club's affair will be held at the Chalet, Deep Cove, Aug. 19.

Sidney Wharf In State Of Disrepair

SIDNEY—Apprehension among local business men was heightened this week when notices advising users that the Sidney wharf is in a state of disrepair were posted by the Federal Wharf Inspector.

Long in need of attention, action is being sought by local businessmen by federal authorities. With the shortage of materials and manpower, doubt has been expressed in some quarters as to whether or not repairs will be made this season.

With the growth of the immediate district and the influx of visitors by water, efforts will be made to have the wharfage facilities here greatly enlarged. A breakwater is sought for year-round protection and additional floats are needed. At present a line-up of automobiles on the structure is prohibited. Automobiles may only stand at intervals of 25 feet, according to local police.

Bert Readings Retires At Sidney

SIDNEY—Bert Readings, proprietor of the Bazar Bay Cash Store, has retired from business after a long period of service. Under doctors orders he will rest for a three-month period at his home on the East Saanich Road.

For 25 years he has been a familiar figure at the Bazar Bay Store and before that he owned and operated the Sidney Cash and Carry Store.

Weather

Weather Synopsis—Clear skies have been general over the southern interior and lower coast for the past 24 hours. Overcast skies with some rain have persisted over the north coast and northern B.C. Radioactivity Detected

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Scientists at the University of California said slight radioactivity has been detected over San Francisco and they believe it is a result of the July 1 A-bomb test at Bikini. The amount is too small to affect humans, they said.

British Trade Paper Says Wheat Pact Hurts Canadian Producers

LONDON (CP)—The trade publication Corn Trade news said editorially today that, in reaching a long-term wheat agreement with the United Kingdom, Canada "probably yielded to British pressure since one cannot imagine Canada voluntarily taking a step so detrimental to the whole future of the international grain trade and of her growers and so destructive of confidence."

The paper said that "while Britain has astutely freed herself from United States and Argentine monopolies, other countries have become more hopelessly enmeshed." Canada now was quoted as a bushel to all countries except Britain—a figure based on a "monopoly price."

Trade Minister Mackinnon announced in the Canadian House of Commons last July 25 a four-year agreement under which Canada would sell Britain 600,000 bushels of wheat at a fixed price of $1.55 a bushel for the first two years at minimum prices of $1.25 and $1 a bushel for the third and fourth years respectively.

(The agreement, effective Aug. 1, provides that Britain will purchase 160,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat in the crop year 1946-47, 160,000,000 in 1947-48, 140,000,000 in 1948-49 and 140,000,000 in 1949-50.)

Corn Trade News said whatever advantage the agreement may yield either party "it tends to perpetuate control for another four years and to weaken confidence in both exporting and importing countries."

Australia, Argentina and United States would find the world's best market given over to Canada until 1950. "They will likely react by keeping their own markets and supplies controlled or monopolized for a longer period than they otherwise would. They will hesitate to expose their growers to world competition on a market narrowed by virtual disappearance of British demand."

"On the other hand importers will be unable to buy Canadian wheat for the next four years except when the surplus exceeds 160,000,000 bushels and then only at a parity with monopoly prices charged by the United States and Argentina. Accordingly they must either make long-term agreements themselves, pay monopoly prices for the next four years or build up their own agriculture to self-sufficiency."

The editorial said the agreement provided that any price sacrifices by Canada in the first two years be "taken into consideration" when prices for the last two years are determined, but, the paper added, this clause was "dangerously open to differences of interpretation."

"When the time comes it is most unlikely that the British Government will place the same interpretation as the Canadian grower on its obligations under the agreement."

Sidney Veterans Dismantling Camp
SIDNEY—A group of World War II veterans have purchased the Army Camp on Centre Road from War Assets Corporation and are now dismantling it.

G. A. Anthony, who is in charge for the syndicate, stated everything would be dismantled with the exception of a few small huts.

Price obtained by War Assets Corporation for the camp is reported to be in the neighborhood of $5,500. Lumber and materials from the buildings will be sold for veterans' housing, according to Mr. Anthony.

Vaughan Back Home From Coast Visit

MONTREAL—Optimistic about the west, R. C. Vaughan, president of Canadian National Railways, has returned here after his inspection tour to the Pacific coast.

"Business throughout the west appeared to be quite optimistic and it seemed to me that with a more settled labor situation there would be plenty of business for everybody," said Mr. Vaughan. "In most places I found little unemployment and was informed by some industrial concerns that they could take care of more men if they could get them."

"At the Pacific coast I had the opportunity of visiting some of the shipyards and discussed the construction of a new passenger steamship for our company. This will be placed in the Vancouver, Prince Rupert and Alaska service. No contract has yet been placed, but the ship will be an outstanding contribution to passenger and shipping circles on the west coast."

Canadian Money Still Distrusted

OTTAWA (CP)—The big men of government finance who recently elevated the Canadian dollar to a new eminence saw little change today that their action would uproot a traditional reluctance to accept in the United States.

Their attention was drawn to an item which showed that, despite the new Canada-United States dollar parity, Seattle City transit system drivers still are not accepting Canadian money.

"It has always been that way in the past," said one high official. "I don't know why there should be any change now."

He joined with another official in recalling that "there have always been a few border points where they would accept Canadian money, but not all border points at all times... and the farther inland you go the less are your chances of getting acceptance."

The best advice for a Canadian planning a visit to the United States, the official agreed, is to change his Canadian dollars to American dollars in Canada.

Pemberton Block, Fairfield Hotel Sold; More Wartime Houses Built

Sale of the Pemberton Block to Norman Yarrow for an undivided share, and sale of the Fairfield Hotel, 710 Cormorant Street, for $200,000 to Fairfield Block Ltd., were highlights of Victoria's current real estate activity announced today.

At the same time the housing picture on the Island brightened slightly with the announcement by Ald. Edward Williams, that his firm, Victoria Housing Ltd., would begin construction of 35 wartime houses immediately at Cumberland. These houses will be used by miners working in the coal mines of the district.

He also announced that 62 of the 150 wartime houses being built in Victoria for veterans are now completed and occupied and another 20 will be ready before the end of August. Only 10 more remain to be started.

Royal Trust Co. handled the sale of the Pemberton Building, Victoria's largest office building, which will be continued under the management of the trust company. It will be continued as an office building, and will be renovated as soon as men and materials are available, Mr. Yarrow said.

It has a frontage of 88 feet on Fort Street, 188 feet on Broad Street, and 88 feet on Broughton Street.

Vendor of the Fairfield Hotel was H. A. Lineham, who held the property in trust for the Lineham estate. The building is at Cormorant and Douglas Streets, and occupies the southerly 90 feet of two lots.

General Strike By C.C.L. Group Faces Okanagan

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—A walkout of 2,500 workers, including telephone operators, in the Okanagan Valley was threatened Wednesday if municipal authorities here attempt to reinstate collection of garbage, halted three days ago when 70 civic employees went on strike.

Daniel O'Brien, regional director, Canadian Congress of Labor, warned he would appeal to all C.C.L. unions in the valley to take strike action if a move is made to replace six striking garbage collectors.

The strike of civic workers was caused when the City Council refused to accept an award granting the Municipal Employees' Union (C.C.L.) maintenance of membership and check-off union dues.

Picket lines have been maintained at the city hall, police station and fire hall.

O'Brien said that he has been informed that municipal authori-

B.C. Salmon Pack Shows Big Decrease

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's salmon pack to date this year totals 254,945 cases, the smallest figure for the corresponding date of any year since 1943 when some 211,000 cases were packed.

This year's pack is only about 50 per cent of the total at Aug. 5 last year when 507,266 cases had been packed.

A bulletin issued by the chief supervisor of fisheries at Vancouver shows a heavy drop in nearly all species in all districts. The sockeye pack dropped from 281,593 cases in 1945 to 154,238 cases this year. The only increase shown was in the chum pack which rose from nearly 25,742 cases last year to more than 35,631 cases this season.

Congratulations, Pity For Sask. Liberal Head

OTTAWA (CP)—Walter Tucker, newly-elected leader of the Liberal Party in Saskatchewan, was loudly applauded today when he entered the Commons on his return from Regina.

Howard Green, P.C., Vancouver South, had the floor when Mr. Tucker, Parliamentary Assistant to Veterans' Minister Mackenzie entered the chamber to help pilot through some veterans' legislation.

As the applause subsided, Mr. Green said he believed Mr. Tucker was to be "congratulated and pitied" for the new task he was undertaking.

Holiday In Scotland

LONDON (Reuter)—The Royal Family set off Wednesday night for a summer vacation in Scotland.

A big crowd gathered at Euston Station, London, to cheer them when the King and Queen with Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret arrived from Buckingham Palace to join the royal train for the journey to Balmoral where the court will be in residence for some weeks.

Russian Stand Again Threatens To Delay Parley

PARIS (AP)—Foreign Minister Molotov today reopened the troublesome issue of voting procedure in a plenary session of the peace conference, blaming Britain and the United States for what he said was a "grave mistake."

Mr. Molotov's action, coming after the rules had been approved in committee in turbulent and protracted sessions, threatened to prolong the conference. The meeting after 10 days, still has not reached consideration of the draft peace treaties for Italy, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland—prime purpose of the conference.

First speaker of the session today, Mr. Molotov said he did not think any conference recommendation voted by less than a two-thirds majority would have much weight with the council of four principal Foreign Ministers.

A British proposal, supported by the United States, had been approved by the rules committee providing that recommendations voted either by a two-thirds or a simple majority should go to the Foreign Ministers Council for consideration, although those with a two-thirds majority would have more weight. The council has the final say on including such recommendations in the treaties.

Mr. Molotov said these voting rules would "confuse the whole conference."

Until Mr. Molotov spoke it had been assumed that adoption of the rules by the full conference was a foregone conclusion since all members of the 21-power conference were represented in the rules committee.

LONDON (CP)—A Foreign Office spokesman today said that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin would leave Friday "as arranged" to take over the leadership of his country's peace conference delegation in Paris.

Shortening Lack Threatens Closing Small Bake Shops

A large number of summer tourists, a greater demand for bread and a 10 per cent cut in the flour quota have combined to make getting the usual amount of bread more difficult for Victoria housewives. Lack of shortening is also creating a problem for bakeries.

"It is nothing to get alarmed at. We will have enough bread for the stores and home delivery," said the manager of one of the city's largest bakery houses.

E. Hambury, manager of Mc Gavin's Bakeries Ltd., said there was a possibility that the volume of bread would be decreased and that while the situation was not "alarming, it bears watching."

"We will have to ration our flour or we will find ourselves at the end of the month without enough," Mr. Hambury said.

"Housewives may not get all the bread they want but they will not go without."

Really tough problem for the bakers, large and small, at the present time is the lack of shortening and lard, with the situation of six months ago repeating itself. Some small bakers feel they may have to close if they do not receive some relief.

"The outlook is not bright," said Lorne Campbell, proprietor of the Clearview Bakery. "We have enough shortening for two weeks, but we have no information as to what we can expect after that is gone."

Daily production of some 500 loaves was cut to 450, he said, adding that the lack of shortening would affect bread production still more.

A representative of the National System of Baking Ltd., reported that his company was not getting its quota of shortening and lard through.

A similar situation was faced by bakers across Canada about six months ago, when imports of shortening from the United States, helped solve the problem, according to one baker. Since that time, however, bakers have had to depend on the Canadian supply.

British Cabinet Appears Waiting For Truman's Reply On Palestine

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee and his cabinet today apparently were awaiting President Truman's reply to the joint proposal for a four-way division of Palestine into a federal state.

London newspapers agreed, however, that widespread air and sea operations to eliminate the pipeline of uncertified Jewish immigrants were under examination at a special cabinet meeting Wednesday. A cabinet statement may be forthcoming within 48 hours.

The Colonial Office would not comment on reports Britain intended to concentrate uncertified immigrants on the fortress island of Cyprus in the eastern Mediterranean, but a government source said it was clear "a drastic new interim policy is necessary to solve this particular problem."

TURN-DOWN INVITATION

JERUSALEM (CP)—Lt. Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, British High Commissioner, today said Palestine Arab leaders had turned down an invitation to round-table talks in London on the future of the Holy Land.

Sir Alan's statement said the Arabs had also raised the questions of reported government plans to halt unauthorized Jewish immigration into Palestine and of the release of Arab political prisoners. The statement gave no details of these questions.

(London dispatches said a dramatic government statement on Palestine might be forthcoming within 48 hours. British government sources said Wednesday the cabinet was considering far-reaching military plans which might include a tight blockade of the Palestine coast to halt the flow of uncertified Jewish immigrants and stricter control of displaced persons camps in Europe.)

The High Commissioner's statement was issued after a 40-minute conference with Jamal Bey Hussein, acting chairman of the Arab executive who returned from Egypt Wednesday night after conferences with Arab League leaders.

Military authorities were reported to have rescinded an order banning British troops from Jewish night clubs, restaurants and other places of entertainment. The order was issued July 25, three days after the King David Hotel bomb explosion.

Release of 1,700 Jews, taken into custody by authorities June 29 in a round-up of suspected extremists, was also announced by the Palestine Government, which said 970 more would be freed in a few days.

AWAIT RUSSIAN REACTION

The possibility of Russia being projected into the Palestine situation was seen today in a statement of the Arab Office that there was no reason why "America should be a party to the Palestine case and not Russia."

Ahmed Shukairy, Arab Office director, told a press conference that the Arab Office is a "propaganda office supported by Palestine Arabs and responsible to the Arab world," but not necessarily reflecting the views of the Palestine Arab executive or of the Arab League in the present case.

The statement said "the question of sending an Arab delegation to Moscow has been talked of often, but never decided" and added:

"The Zionist movement is a racial, capitalist movement to which Russian ideology is categorically opposed. The Arab world is looking eagerly for the stand Moscow will take on this issue."

(Exchange Telegraph, British news agency, quoted Shukairy as saying discussions were proceeding for the Palestine Communist Party to send a delegation to Russia.)

The Russian Embassy, questioned on Shukairy's statement, said, "We have no information on the subject at all."

The British Foreign and Colonial Offices declined comment.

Steel Strike Causes Nail Shortage Here

Adding to the headaches of building contractors plagued by shortages is the scarcity of nails in Victoria made worse by the recent strike in eastern steel mills.

A survey of dealers here today showed practically no common or galvanized nails. One dealer said he had none of the former in sizes from one-and-a-quarter to six inches and none of the latter in sizes from one to four inches.

"After the supply resumes," he said, "it will take three or four months to fill all the orders piling up now."

Aussie Delegate Scores Molotov

PARIS (AP)—Dr. H. V. Evatt, Australian Minister of External Affairs, today told the peace conference that Russian Foreign Minister Molotov was attempting to enforce the same veto power in the conference as he enjoys in the Foreign Ministers' Council. Mr. Molotov, the fiery Australian said, "believes that his 'no' should be conclusive."

GREAT STEP FORWARD

ALTHOUGH IT WAS REGARDED AS A certainty that the Senate at Washington would round up the requisite two-thirds vote for the resolution committing the United States to accept the compulsory jurisdiction of the World Court under the United Nations, a good deal of headshaking preceded approval on the final day of the 79th Congress.

What seemed to worry some of the lawmakers of the Upper Chamber on Capitol Hill was the ticklish problem of keeping purely domestic affairs out of the hands of such a tribunal. Senator after Senator arose to emphasize the importance of American adherence to the principle that international legal cases should be decided by an international court; others, however, were troubled by the idea that the court might determine in what cases it had jurisdiction—even though the Charter expressly forbids it to handle matters essentially within a nation's domestic sphere. It is obvious, of course, that a dispute between two nations would scarcely qualify for World Court action unless both disputants had accepted the full principle of compulsion.

It will be recalled that the members of the United States delegation to the San Francisco Conference last year were apprehensive lest the inclusion of a clause for compulsory jurisdiction in the Charter of the United Nations might prejudice ratification by the Senate. Russia's Foreign Commissar Molotov on many occasions has emphasized his country's inherent determination to cling to its sovereign rights in all matters of international political significance. But spokesmen for the Soviet Union do not always mean what they say. On the other hand, if Russia feels that some decision of the World Court is inimical to her interests, she is at liberty to act as she pleases. Adherence to the principle of compulsory jurisdiction of the tribunal by the United States nevertheless will add immensely to the prestige and practicality of the Court and consequently to the United Nations. And any further hesitancy, moreover, would have implied an unwillingness to trust an organization of which our neighbors are not only one of the principal instigators but also the chief power.

Public concern naturally centres in making the whole organization of the United Nations function as quickly and as effectively as possible, so that disputes can be more easily resolved by the fact that they can be referred automatically to the courts, councils and committees designed for that purpose. It will be generally accepted, therefore, that the Senate's action in passing its resolution will have a highly important bearing on intelligent opinion throughout the world. Its approval provides that element of faith in understanding which dispels those constant suspicions of motives which invariably bedevil the best intentions.

IMMIGRATION

ONLY THOSE WHO PERSISTENTLY close their eyes to facts can deny that one of the greatest handicaps preventing Canada's natural development is the attitude which regards immigration almost as an evil to be scotched rather than as a good augury to be welcomed. There is perhaps no need to recall the whole history of the North American continent in order to mark the importance of immigration to its development. But there is need to emphasize the essential necessity of a new outlook on the general economy of Canada, so that advantage can be taken of the present opportunities offered in Europe for increased immigration. It can be quite frankly stated that if we do not make use of these opportunities, we may be forced to accept a "run-of-the-mine" influx from elsewhere.

Already there is very little opportunity of obtaining immigrants from Britain, which has long provided the remote reaches of the world with pioneers and adventurers. For the present, at any rate, and as far as can be seen, she is going to be fully occupied at home with her own reconstruction which demands more and more labor. One London daily, editorially discussing this shortage of workers in Britain, points out: "British immigration (instead of emigration) may seem a startling idea, but it may have to be adopted." That sentence emphasizes the fact that this familiar source of our immigration is dried up for all practical purposes. Therefore, being obliged to look elsewhere, we might as well make the best use of the opportunities afforded by prospects among the more progressive elements in continental Europe who will eventually recover from their present frustrations.

An energetic and forward-looking immigration policy for Canada would assist not only in solving one of the most difficult problems underlying reconstruction in Europe, but would provide our "great empty spaces," such as the Peace River, with the very type of settler Canada requires. Under modern conditions, agriculture, to which such immigration is born and bred, offers the balance to an economy which is quite liable to become over-industrialized.

TWO VOICES

MR. EMMANUEL NEWMAN, VICE-president of the Zionist Association of America, declares from the "People's Forum" that the Balfour Declaration of 1917 granted the Jews a national home in Palestine. He argues that the British have no right to prevent immigration to the Holy Land—especially the 100,000 allowed by the Anglo-American Commission in its report. Mr. Newman also accuses Britain of ignoring the mandatory powers conferred on her by the League of Nations in respect of Palestine, objects to the British keeping large numbers of troops in the trouble spot, and then asserts that the Jews only carry arms in order to protect themselves against marauders.

No previous recommendations have found it possible, or practical, to accept such views as Mr. Newman now adduces. Perhaps Lord Halifax summarized the present situation most lucidly in the House of Lords on June 8, 1939, when he said:

"It may well be that there are questions for which at any particular moment, having regard to the temper of the times and the temper of those concerned, there is no immediate solution. In such cases I suppose it is the duty of state-manship to work for such a détente as may make a real change in the atmosphere through which an approach to the problem has to be made."

Apart from the difficulty of providing any form of détente when such leaders as Mr. Newman go so far as to accuse the British of deliberately assisting the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem to return to the Middle East in order to foment disorders against the Jews, another voice of these unhappy people is that of Mr. Lessing J. Rosenwald, president of the American Council of Judaism, who warned a nation-wide audience in a radio broadcast from Philadelphia the other day of the "situation approaching anarchy" in the Holy Land. His concept of the presence of British troops in Palestine, however, is that such forces are essential to government measures—which he regards as a "natural consequence" of the "reign of terror." He elaborated:

"Jews throughout the world are not and never can be, as Jews, participants in political action. American Jews know that to turn to machine-guns as final arbiters is tragic, criminal folly; they will have nothing to do with terrorism or violence."

While Mr. Rosenwald approved the Anglo-American Committee's recommendation that homes be found in Palestine as quickly as possible for 100,000 Jews now in displaced persons' camps in Europe, he stipulated that they "must be removed to a land of peace." Nobody in his or her right senses would call the Holy Land a country where all is sweet reason and light. And as long as the Jews there themselves seem to find it difficult to agree on some matters, the advice of Mr. Rosenwald should not fall on barren ground.

WATER SUPPLY PROBLEMS

GREATER VICTORIA OFTEN GRUMBLES about its water supplies and in adequacy of pressures in the right place at the right time. But if these grumblings cause some discomfort to the authorities they may take some comfort in comparing their lot with that of the various water authorities in Britain, which is watered by a worn out system of some 2,000 big and little companies. Rt. Hon. Aneurin Bevan, Britain's Minister of Health, has now established a 20-member Water Advisory Committee to advise on the conservation and provision of water supplies for the whole country. National Housing plans include the best of plumbing, but the national water supply is totally inadequate under present conditions to make use of modern equipment.

The main problem concerns rural supplies. In industrialized Britain there are still 3,400 pipeless parishes. Some rural communities even buy water from carters who make deliveries twice a week. Preliminary planning was done by the Coalition Ministry of Health, under Mr. Henry Willink, who proposed regionalization, a $65,000,000 rural water scheme; conservation; improved administration, including the extension of rural sewage farms. This scheme has provided the groundwork for the new Water Advisory Committee. Mr. Bevan realizes that water supplies must be an integral part of town planning and is building on these foundations rather than trying to satisfy the more enthusiastic economic planners among his followers. A National Water Board is likely to be set up which will co-ordinate and integrate the regional plans.

Thus many of the "quaint old customs" so attractive and so exasperating to touring Canadians are likely to be abolished under the general impact of reconstruction, which includes ensuring a good water supply from proper reservoirs for the whole of Britain.

THERE ARE LIMITATIONS

MR. LEO DOLAN, DIRECTOR OF THE Dominion Government Travel Bureau in Ottawa, urges support for administrations that will embark on a program of fine highways in the provinces of Canada. It is a truism to say that few people are more conscious of the fundamental importance to tourist traffic of good roads than the inhabitants of Victoria and Vancouver Island. How many of our returned veterans, for instance, have ventured their all in the future development of what is practically a primary industry in this part of the world?

But any administration is limited in its expenditures to the income it can obtain from production and the apportionment of that income on all the services demanded of it. If production is limited, income is limited, and its distribution on services such as good roads must be limited, too.

Its quality or its price is wrong if it needs a law to protect it from a competing article or service.

Moscow Weather

By JOSEPH ALSOP

PARIS.

AT SOME MOMENT in the future, as yet unascertained, Moscow will give the answer to the question, "Peace or War?" Most of the Foreign Ministers of allied nations now assembled here are men who tend to be dwarfed by the vast processes of modern history. But few are stupid. Not one supposes that a solid peace will be secured by this odd peace conference, which is only a phase of the postwar border disputes between the Western and Soviet political systems.

That is why American and British foreign policy is based on the expectation—or at least the hope—of a change in Soviet policy which will permit the nations to live in friendship together. And that is why the subject most discussed in the dreary corridors of the Luxembourg Palace is not the course of events of this conference, but the riddle of Soviet aims. You cannot obtain a decisive answer to the riddle, but at any rate you can hear more well-informed speculation than anywhere else in the world. You can hear also a few items of solid evidence which are of more interest than the best guesses.

ITEM ONE: The exile of the great Zhukov to the command of the garrison at Odessa is only the most spectacular development in the retreat of the generals into obscurity. Long before Zhukov, Timoshenko had also been exiled to the command of a distant garrison. Rokossovsky, who was already under a political cloud before the war, is now tipped by the wisecracks as a good prospect for public or private extinction. He has talked too much, too often with foreigners, and too critically of the regime. And just to add the correct note of ironic comedy to this grim process, the aged Voroshilov is reported to have been transferred from the sphere of war to that of culture and the arts.

About the only moderately funny story being told in Paris is a well-authenticated anecdote about a high Soviet official who was queried in Berlin as to Voroshilov's equipment for his odd new assignment. He is reported to have answered, with stolid solemnity, that Voroshilov was well equipped. Indeed, the old marshal, it seemed, had always been an enthusiast of the ballet and a connoisseur of ballerinas. Furthermore, he had an intense fondness for paintings of military scenes.

ITEM TWO: The harshness of the new five-year plan is infinitely greater than one has been led to suppose. All sorts of figures are quoted by the diplomats here. One of these, which is no doubt exaggerated but nevertheless symptomatic, is that the new plan contemplates an allowance of one pound of butter per Soviet citizen per year. The point is that while no detailed figures are available, no one questions that the masters of the Kremlin have embarked on a policy of putting guns further ahead of butter than has ever been dreamed of before. At the same time, all the evidence suggests that for the present the Soviet state is in a condition of serious military weakness. The facade of victory is there. But behind the facade there are realities, generally agreed upon, of shortages of such essential raw materials as oil and breakdowns resulting from war in many categories of vital industrial production. In addition to the terrible new weapons of total destruction, moreover, there are some types of more familiar armament such as long-range and high-altitude aircraft which the Soviet state is only now beginning to manufacture.

ITEM THREE: The first item is an aspect of a process of which, the second item, intensive rearmament, is in part the purpose. The iron grip of the secret police—the dreaded N.K.V.D. which has now been reorganized and given another new name—has been immensely tightened. This was necessary not only for rearmament but also in order to cure the ravages of war upon the Soviet system as a whole. It is too often forgotten that the Russian stooge of Hitler, General Vlasov, was able to recruit an army of more than 1,000,000 Soviet citizens to fight against the motherland. It is now known that the bloody battle of Velikie Luki, one of the bitterest engagements of the eastern war, was fought almost entirely between Russians. The Russian units in the German army were in fact regarded as wholly dependable and of high fighting calibre. The meaning of this should be sufficiently obvious.

This sort of thing, plus such problems as the disillusionment of the loyal Soviet forces who have seen Europe, plus the Soviet military weakness, adds up to an explanation of the tightened grip of the secret police. As to the fact that the secret police have never exercised their power more ruthlessly, few of the innumerable qualified observers here have any doubt.

THE INDICTMENT of a large number of officials in charge of heavy industrial production, on the surprising charges of misappropriation of funds, is a small sign of what goes on within Russia. From this sort of sign, and from the exile of the generals, there are many who deduce that the period of the Soviet state "eating its own children" is by no means at an end.

Such is the current political climate within the Soviet state, as the best qualified men at this reunion of best guessers from all over the world now describe it. It hardly seems to hold out that hope for a change in direction of Soviet policy, towards closer collaboration with the western world, which is the basis of the present foreign planning of the western nations.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By GLENN BABB
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst (substituting for Dewitt MacKenzie)

China is giving evidence of disappointment over the fruits of her bargain with Russia, embodied in the treaty signed the day of Japan's surrender nearly a year ago. She has acted to block the application of Outer Mongolia, a Soviet satellite, for membership in the United Nations.

China's recognition of the 25-year-old fact that Outer Mongolia had shaken off the ties that had bound her lightly to the Chinese state was one element of the bargain. In return China received Moscow's pledge of aid to be given solely through the National Government then at Chungking—to the exclusion of the Chinese Communists—and Russian recognition of Chinese sovereignty in Manchuria.

From neither of these Russian undertakings has China benefited to any appreciable extent. The pledge to favor the National Government—as against the Communists—has been meaningless; there is no conclusive evidence that the Communists have received any considerable active Russian support, but neither has Moscow aided Chiang Kai-shek's regime. The Communists remain a powerful threat to end Chiang's two decades of rule: the country is torn by strife which threatens to become full-scale civil war.

As for Manchuria, the grip of the Communists on the greater part of that once richly developed region has made a travesty of the recognition of Chinese sovereignty. The Chinese nationalists have had little good of the fine ports, railways and industries which they hoped to recover when Japan was smashed.

The Russians, withdrawing, left little of the great munitions and heavy industry plants the Japanese had built to feed their war machine. Reparations and spoils of war, the Russians said. This is the background of the Chinese demand in the membership committee of the United Nations Security Council that the Mongolian application be shelved for at least a year, Russia and Poland had strongly supported the application. The committee agreed to suspend further action until an accredited envoy from Mongolia could be heard. The Chinese pointed out that the Mongolian People's Republic—had to give its official name—had no diplomatic relations with any power except the Soviet Union.

WANTS PATRICIA BAY

As a former pilot of the Royal Canadian Air Force—and as one who, for five years, lived either on, or in the vicinity of, the air-dromes of four continents, I desire to point out some of the advantages that will accrue to the City of Victoria if the Gordon Head airport project is dropped in favor of the promised commercial development of Patricia Bay.

I am keenly aware of two matters which constitute valid arguments against having a busy airport near a city.

Primarily, the noise is most objectionable. In expanding upon this aspect of the matter, I might point out that a good airport must have at least three runways, each about 6,000 feet (approximately a mile and an eighth) long. This brings into being six "flightways" which are nothing more or less than the straight courses through the air which heavy aircraft must follow for a distance of about two miles after taking off or before landing. After taking off and while climbing straight along these flightways in order to gain altitude, the engines are always at full power. At a distance of about two miles from the airport, the aircraft are usually at an altitude of 500 to 1,000 feet, at which point some reduction in power can be made. For anyone living on, or near, a flightway, say a mile from the end of the runway in use, the noise is terrific; and the vibration set up by a present-day four-engine aeroplane of a total of 6,400 h.p. does actually shake the pictures on the wall and the plates on the table. Bearing in mind that it will not be long before the four-engine aircraft will have 12,000 h.p. available for take-off, it is not hard to visualize the increasingly greater nuisance such low-flying machines will constitute, particularly at night. Patricia Bay is certainly large enough to handle all traffic for years to come. It is larger than Prestwick, Scotland which, for a long time, was said to have handled more traffic than any other aerodrome in the world and which, on one day last year, I saw accommodate over 150 take-offs and a somewhat greater number of landings.

We should think ourselves very lucky to have offered to us a fine airport at Patricia Bay, one which is within such a reasonable distance of the city, but which is at a distance which will allow the noise of passing aircraft to dissipate itself over the Saanich Peninsula.

By all means, Mr. Howe's offer should be taken up.

Look To Fraser River Run To Change Poor Fishing Season

Fears of a generally poor year for tuna, pilchard and sockeye salmon fishermen, unless the anticipated big Fraser River run this year makes up for poor sockeye fishing in the northern districts, were expressed here today.

Few tuna have been taken to date off this coast and authorities of the fisheries department fear that the tuna, which for several years have been coming in large numbers into the warm Japanese current waters off this coast, may not migrate so far north this year.

No pilchards have been located in B.C. waters to date this year although the season is about three weeks' old.

It has been suggested that pilchards and tuna may have similar or related feeding habits. Provincial fisheries department officials have never been satisfied that tuna came to these waters annually in sufficient quantities to make a worthwhile industry although for several years the catches by B.C. fishermen have been good.

"We are not unduly surprised," said George Alexander, assistant fisheries commissioner, about the tuna runs this year. "Tuna are an exotic species which come up on the Japanese current if there is plenty of feed."

It is possible that if the pilchard runs this year come in strength within a short time the pilchard fishermen may be able to take sufficiently heavy hauls to make the annual catch about average.

Heavy tuna runs would also make it possible for tuna fishermen to make up for lost time.

The sockeye fishing in the north, however, has been so poor that fishermen there will not be able to make up for time lost by poor runs this year.

Only hope for the sockeye fishermen is a strong Fraser River run this year. The run is expected off this coast toward the end of the month.

This year is the "cycle" year for Fraser River sockeye. One year in four strong runs of sockeye make their way up the river to spawn and the catches during those years are usually considerably larger than in other years.

It is also possible that pinks and chums may take up some of the slack for the sockeye fishermen.

Lambrick Opposes Move To Retain Gordon Head Site

Reeve A. G. Lambrick of Saanich today stated his opposition to the move made by the Greater Victoria Airport Committee, of which he is a member, to retain the property at Gordon Head in reserve for future airport development.

He endorsed enthusiastically the committee's decision to press for the immediate development of Pat Bay airport for civilian purposes and the building of an express highway to the airport.

However, regarding Gordon Head, he felt keeping the property there in reserve for future airport development would curtail and delay development of surrounding property. People will not be prepared to build anywhere in the vicinity so long as the possibility exists of an airport being established there, he contended.

Reeve Lambrick has consistently opposed the idea of an airport at Gordon Head so long as there is a possibility of Pat Bay being used for general purposes.

The Recreation Council of Greater Victoria has written the City Council offering assistance in the operation of a clubroom for senior citizens when facilities are available, and expressing pleasure at the move to obtain such a clubroom.

In Stuart days, it was the custom to put a piece of toast in the wine cup for flavor; hence the English expression, "drink a toast."

Perfect Weather Highlights Garden Party

Mrs. Denis Harris, left, her mother, Mrs. Charles Wilson, and Dr. H. E. Ridewood, on the lower lawn where guests gathered after passing through the receiving line. (Other pictures on Page 11).

A warm air of friendliness set the motif for the garden party at Government House, Wednesday afternoon.

The sun shone. Skies were blue. The magnificent gardens never looked more artistically perfect.

Planned by Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward and Mrs. Woodward as a farewell party to their many friends prior to their retirement from Government House early in September, the occasion proved to be one of the largest functions in their five-year regime.

The host and hostess, accompanied by Lt. Cmdr. Hew Paterson, Capt. J. G. Cromack and Miss Ruth Maclean, received their guests in front of the rustic summerhouse, framed by tall evergreen trees on the side and a bed of glowing pink geraniums and canna lilies on the other.

Also in the Government House party were Miss Mary Twigg Woodward and Charles Woodward.

In the guest line were many visitors from out of town, members and ex-members of the services, cabinet ministers, members of the legislature, members of civic councils and consular corps, dignitaries of the church and bench, as well as citizens of Victoria, Vancouver and other cities in British Columbia.

Top hats and monocles glinted in the sunlight as the line moved forward across the lawn. Cutaway coats and pearl grey fedoras were also in evidence as well as flannels, straw hats and smartly tailored business suits.

Feminine guests added the dominant color-note in their bright summer dresses and hats.

COLORFUL GOWNS

A gown of white taffeta faille patterned with scarlet flowers was chosen by Mrs. Woodward, the full skirt sweeping to toe-length from the corded waistline of a basque bodice. Long black gloves were worn with the short sleeves and her large picture hat of black Milan straw was accented with wide ribbons of dark velvet.

Miss Mary Twigg Woodward was frocked in street-length scarlet and white silk jersey, the scarlet accent being repeated in her crownless picture hat of fine straw, bag and shoes. Miss Ruth Maclean attended Mrs. Woodward in pearl grey crepe with black off-the-face hat and black accessories.

Premier Hart was accompanied by Mrs. Hart, she gracefully gowning in grey silk crepe with small sailor hat of pink and blue trimmed black straw and short black fur cape. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Richards were in the Premier's party, the latter wearing a linen frock of electric blue with wide-brimmed hat of natural straw and short topcoat of coral wool.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McAdam were among the guests, a green and white silk print being worn by Mrs. McAdam with black dressmaker coat and black straw hat. Close behind in the line of guests was Mrs. W. C. Nichol, wearing a silk print frock of black and white with black hat and ermine stole. A striking combination of pink beige and cinnamon brown was in the early fall dressmaker suit worn by Mrs. A. J. Campbell with cinnamon brown hat trimmed with pink tulle roses.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

A silk frock with small floral print of blue and black and wide brimmed black straw hat was chosen by Mrs. Gordon Cameron, who arrived with her daughter, Miss Shirley Cameron. Miss Cameron was in a navy blue and white striped frock with large white bonnet-brimmed hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Yarrow were accompanied by their daughter, Miss Verna Yarrow, the latter wearing a black and pink silk print with headband of black net. Mrs. Yarrow chose a two-piece frock of black and white silk with small hat of shiny black straw and white feather boa.

A simply-styled frock of black crepe with square neckline, tiny hat of white cherries and silver fox furs was the costume worn by Mrs. J. W. Benning. Also in black was Mrs. J. R. Kingham, her crisply tailored suit accented with black-striped white blouse and a tall black and white crown featuring her black straw hat.

Heading the coterie of naval officers and their wives was Admiral E. R. Mainguy, O.B.E., R.C.N., and Mrs. Mainguy, the latter frocked in beige silk crepe with matching hat trimmed with white. Accompanying Surgeon Cmdr. H. R. Rutman was Mrs. Rutman wearing a jacket suit of sky blue rayon faille and white off-the-face hat with blue ribbon trim. A blue and white print frock, complemented by a tiny up-hair model hat with blue and pink tulle flowers was worn by Mrs. A. J. Tullis, attending with Cmdr. Tullis, R.C.N.

Greeting His Honor and Mrs. Woodward together were noticed

Miss Elspeth Ker, in an aqua and black silk print with black accessories, and Miss Ann Tallow, wearing a round-necked linen frock of turquoise and bandeau of turquoise net rosettes.

TEA ON LAWN

On the lower lawn, where afternoon tea was served from long marquees, Mayor Percy George and Mrs. George chatted with friends. Mrs. George was dressed in a navy two-piece ensemble with lime green, white accessories and tiny navy straw hat trimmed with lime green flowers.

Mrs. T. McGimpsey, in a floral dress of blue undertone splashed with cobalt blue and magenta figures, navy topcoat and tiny blue hat with blue and magenta flowers, accompanied by her husband, chatted with Mrs. E. H. Hanbury, in a smartly-cut Virginia brown suit, with silver fox scarf and Stetson model coachman hat of brown felt, and Mrs. F. Dillabough, wearing a floral dress of softest green touched with rose and blue. With this she wore a blue topcoat and accessories and small blue straw hat trimmed with tiny velvet bows in colors to complement her dress.

Another group included Dr. J. B. Munro with Mrs. Munro in a smart black afternoon dress with short cape sleeves and round neckline, black accessories and tiny white hat, and Miss Donna Munro wearing a silver-blue linen frock and white cloche hat.

Mrs. Ray Castle wore a black and white ensemble with small white hat and white accessories. Miss Kathleen Agnew chose white silk, brightened with red polka dots, a heavy white silk wrap with full Bishop sleeves and small cerise straw hat and cerise veil.

FAMILY GROUPS

Included in the many family groups were Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Ker, the latter in a soft green ensemble with white accessories, accompanied by their daughter, Miss June Ker, in pink with white accessories; Mrs. Macgregor Macintosh in a blue floral with endet blue topcoat and tiny brighter blue hat, with her husband, Capt. Macintosh and her daughter, Miss Jane Macintosh in white with white daisies forming a bandeau across her fair hair styled in a coronet braid; Mrs. Bell-Irving in navy with red accessories and Miss Bell-Irving in a white ensemble with white accessories and small white hat with navy trim.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rutman, who were married in eastern Canada in June, were among the guests, Mrs. Rutman wearing a smart two-tone blue and black linen, black accessories and fine black straw beauty cap with tiny veil. They were accompanied by Mrs. A. C. Rutman.

WAR BRIDES

A pretty war bride just recently arrived from England, Mrs. J. R. H. Oakley chose a delphinium blue silk afternoon frock, off-the-face, bumper brimmed black straw hat with veil, and black accessories. Lieut. Oakley accompanied her, and in their party were Lieut. M. F. Oliver, Mrs. James Piddington and NS. Jean Harris.

Mrs. A. J. Carmichael wore periwinkle blue with black accessories and black picture hat accented with one single pink rose. Mrs. Cuthbert Holmes was smartly gowning in a full-length garden party dress of silver grey, traced with a delicate carnation design in softest pink. With this she wore a silver fox scarf and large black picture hat accented with pink roses. She was accompanied by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Philip Holmes. Mrs. H. A. Humber chose a blue and black ensemble, Mrs. B. S. Heiserman was in pale green, accented with white.

The following aides-de-camp were on duty during the afternoon: Brig. J. Sutherland Brown, Col. J. R. Kingham, Col. Hugh Allen,

Double-Ring Rites For Audrey Morton

A double-ring ceremony performed Saturday evening in St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church by Canon H. Creal, united Audrey Kathleen, only daughter of Mrs. E. Morton, 627 Bay Street, and the late Mr. Moriop, and Glen Ernest Akehurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Akehurst, Signal Hill, Esquimalt. Miss May Bellingham was the soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, N. Yates, and chose a gown of heavy white satin, styled with sweetheart neckline, lily point sleeves and slight hoop-skirt effect. Her fingertip veil was held in place by frezias, and she carried a bouquet of pink gladioli, burnt orange rosebuds and sweet peas. She wore a single strand of pearls, belonging to her aunt, and pearl earrings, the gift of the groom.

Miss Ruthe Ferris was maid of honor, wearing a frock of old rose moire silk with bolero jacket and shell-pink and mauve flowers in her hair. Bridesmaid was Miss Agnes Akehurst in blue chiffon with blue and white floral headress. Both carried colonial arrangements of pink gladioli, carnations, rosebuds and sweet peas. Best man was Art Cobourn and usher were Robert Akehurst and Raymond Fenwick.

The groom wore the uniform of St. John Ambulance Brigade, and a guard of honor was formed of members of the brigade on the church steps and at the reception, held at the home of Capt. and Mrs. R. C. McLeod, Signal Hill.

For a honeymoon in Vancouver, Nanaimo and Qualicum Beach, the bride wore a grey pin-striped suit, white accessories and corsage bouquet of yellow rosebuds and sweet peas. Mr. and Mrs. Akehurst will reside at 627 Bay Street.

Mayor George Opens Goldstream Fair

Mayor Percy E. George opened the first annual Langford County Fair held at the Trafalgar Ranch, Goldstream, Wednesday afternoon. Miss Elsie Brown presented Mrs. George with a corsage bouquet.

Vegetables and flowers were judged by Alderman B. D. McTavish and W. H. Warren, city park superintendent, and Mrs. M. Wing and Miss Al Leask from the B. C. Electric Home-Service Department judged the bottled fruit and vegetables. Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Island Authors' Book Now In Pocket Editions
The best seller book, entitled "Timber," written by Mr. Rodrick Haig-Brown of Campbell River, B.C., is now available in the Collins White Circle Pocket Editions.

"Timber" is the story of a friendship; of Slim Crawford, expert logger, fisher, hunter, man of thought and action, half in love, with his cousin Julie Morris... of Slim's friend, Johnny Holt who acts first and thinks afterwards and who is more than a little in love with Julie... and of Julie herself, slim and vital, who knew what she wanted from life. What follows is Mr. Haig-Brown's story... how together they hunt, fish, run timber camps in the lush years and how in the lean days they are drawn into a bitter fight to bring an honest union to the camps.

"The White Circle Pocket Edition of the story "Timber" is now on sale at your magazine dealers' and is distributed on Vancouver Island by Lovick's News Agency, Victoria, B.C.

Margaret Farquhar Married In White

Dr. W. G. Wilson performed the marriage ceremony Wednesday evening in First United Church which united Margaret Ruth, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Farquhar, 920 Burnside Road, and L. Sigm. George Henry Mannix, R.C.N., younger son of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Mannix, 741 Jasmine Avenue. J. Ingram Smith presided at the organ and Mrs. T. S. Floyd was the soloist.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin fashioned with sweetheart neckline, long sleeves tapering to points over the hands and full skirt accented by a Victorian waistline. A coronet head-dress of white net held her waist-length embroidered veil and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses and mauve sweet peas, centred with a gardenia. The only jewelry was a pearl necklace.

Miss Vivienne Fox was maid of honor, wearing a frock of peach flat crepe with accented pleated skirt and low, round neckline, mauve coronet head-dress and gloves. She carried a bouquet of mauve gladioli. The bridesmaids were Miss Helen Farquhar, sister of the bride, and Miss Audrey Gray, wearing similar frocks of pale turquoise. Their accessories were in peach and they carried peach gladioli.

Little Kathleen Mannix, sister of the groom, was flower girl, frocked in white lace and carried a bouquet of pink and blue flowers. Frank Mannix was best man and ushering were Jim Clarkson and Jack Rafter.

The couple left for a honeymoon on the mainland and up island following a reception at the bride's home, where Alex Swainson proposed the toast. Taking leave of the guests, the bride wore a black and white shepherd's check suit, erise topcoat, black Derby hat, black and white accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias. Mr. and Mrs. Mannix will reside in Victoria.

Saanichton Church Scene Of Wedding

The marriage was solemnized Saturday evening in St. Mary's Church, Saanichton, of Roberta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Georgeson, Provost Island, B.C., and Walter Ernest Sidwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sidwell, James Island, Archdeacon A. E. Cornish performed the ceremony and Nell McNaughton was the soloist. Mrs. Warren played the wedding music.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white moire with ruching around the sweetheart neckline and bracelet-length sleeves. A coronet of baby white roses held her chapel veil and she carried a bouquet of Tallman roses and sweetpeas. A single strand of pearls was the only jewelry.

Mrs. D. W. Raffle, sister of the bride, was matron of honor wearing a frock of pale yellow taffeta with matching headdress trimmed with mauve veiling and carried a bouquet of mauve and yellow gladioli.

Bridesmaids were Miss Florence Georgeson, frocked in pale blue crepe and Miss Betty Sidwell, in pale rose crepe, with contrasting headdresses of flowers and veiling. They carried colonial bouquets of carnations and sweet peas. An ankle-length frock of buttercup yellow was worn by the flower girl, Barbara Pearson, with a headress of white flowers. William Troup Jr. was groomsmen and ushering were G. Goidle Jr. and Kenneth Troup.

A reception was held at the Moore Club, James Island, where T. Kingscote proposed the bride's health. Following a honeymoon in Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Sid-Protection... Convenience... Economy And the "Bing Test" proof of a tight seal!

The "Bing Test" is simple: 24 hours after canning, remove the screw band and tap each lid. When you hear the musical sound "B-I-N-G", lift jar gently by lid to see that it holds the jar's weight. This "double-check" proves the seal is tight! Bernardin Lids have triple protection—tin, over heavy gauge steel, then a coating of sanitary gold lacquer, and over all, food acid-resisting white enamel.

Peacetime Brings Customs Staff Up To Record Level

Increased tourist travel and peacetime resumption of import and export trade has increased the staff of the customs division here to 81 customs officers, the largest number ever employed.

Sixty-seven of the officers are stationed in Victoria alone, while the remainder are stationed at various ports throughout Vancouver Island. The Victoria staff has been increased by nine customs officers. Sidney has two more, Quatsino one more and Port Hardy one more. All are ex-servicemen.

The 81 customs officers operate under G. A. Yardley, collector of customs here. The previous peak in the number of customs officers in the division here was in 1931 and 1932, when there were 80 on the staff. Following those peak years, the number dropped to 70 and finally, during the war, to 60.

Mr. Yardley anticipates the need for the large customs staff will continue. When deep sea shipping returns to peacetime conditions, he expects the customs men to be even busier than they are now.

Victoria has already experienced the greatest tourist month in its history. July saw several thousand more cars enter Victoria than any other July in the records of the customs here. Each trip of the ferry Kalakala alone requires the presence of 15 to 16 customs officers, Mr. Yardley said.

AIR TRAVEL DEVELOPS

Also increasing the task of the customs division is the new regulation for private aircraft which has greatly eased restriction on private air travel into Canada. Hardly a day goes by without a telephone call or a letter of inquiry regarding entry to Vancouver Island by plane, Mr. Yardley said.

Imports have increased greatly and even shipments of food from China have begun to arrive in the city.

The list of the food shipments from the Orient showed the food to be mostly dried. Many foods, foreign to the European palate, were included in the list. They included: Dried moss, dried fungus, birds' nests, dried salted olives, water chestnut flower, bamboo and lotus nuts.

Mr. Yardley also noted an increase in the number of Victorians sending to the U.S. for small articles since the 10 per cent exchange difference between U.S. and Canadian money was abolished.

In fact, he said, orders from Victoria have swelled so greatly that one famous U.S. mail order house has written to him announcing its plan to open an office here to handle orders alone.

VARIED DUTIES

Contrary to the belief of many travelers, the customs officer's duties do not consist solely of searching through one's hand-baggage for smuggled cigarettes or silk stockings.

Instead, the customs officer is responsible for the enforcement, in full or in part, of 67 different acts of parliament. Principally, the customs work consists of transactions relating to imports and exports, but there are many additional duties which the customs officer may be called upon to perform.

The acts which the customs officer must enforce come severally under the Department of National Revenue, Department of Fisheries, Department of Transport, Department of Agriculture, Department of Pensions and National Health, Department of Mines and Resources, Department of National Defence, Department of Trade and Commerce and the Department of Justice. There are also duties under provincial government requirements.

The customs division also has responsibilities with regard to distilleries, breweries, malting and malt houses, cigars, cigarettes and tobacco, vinegar, chemical stills, wineries, oil refineries, excise bonding warehouses and bonded manufacturers. Under the special War Revenue Act, still more duties, with regard to taxes, were added.

In the absence of government officials of other departments or divisions, the customs officer must act in their place and must acquaint himself with the regulations by which the officials, for whom he is acting, govern themselves.

Some of the customs officers' responsibilities under these conditions include: those of: immigration officer, quarantine officer, inspector of food and drugs, inspector of livestock, harbor master and port warden.

Even during the war, Mr. Yardley said the duties of the customs officer were little lightened as he became involved with the red tape and detail necessitated by war.

In addition, he added, the customs had its part to play in assisting the navy on ship movements and other pertinent matters.

Mr. Yardley recalled that, during the war, he had held special classes for naval examination officers who had to be acquainted with much of the customs procedure.

Navy League Sends 6 To Royal Roads

TORONTO (CP)—Winners of the six 1946 scholarships offered by the Navy League of Canada and providing two years' tuition at the Royal Canadian Naval College at Royal Roads, have been announced by D. H. Gibson, Dominion president.

The successful contestants include:

Prairies: Ernest McCubbin, Calgary. British Columbia: Donald Alexander McDonald, Vancouver. The scholarships, valued at $900 each and providing the student with everything but pocket money, were first offered in 1943. At first five were awarded, but the number was raised to six in 1944.

Duncan Establishes Parking Fine Plan

DUNCAN—City clerk, chief of police and police magistrate were authorized by the city council here, to inaugurate a system of fine impositions for infractions of parking regulations.

Council were given advice on the matter from the solicitor following a recommendation from the police on the question of parking fines. A resolution from the Duncan K. of P. Lodge asking that the government be requested to abolish the "means" test in applications for old-age pensions, was endorsed. Mayor G. Savage and Ald. W. Evans and Ald. F. Aldersey were appointed delegates to the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention to be held at Harrison Hot Springs, Sept. 23, 24 and 25. Streets committee reported appointment of C. J. Crockett as street cleaner.

The old wheeze that ostriches "bury their heads in the sand" was probably started by early desert nomads who saw ostriches feeding on the horizon. From this distance the birds' head would appear to be buried in the sands.

Soldiers' Liberties Studied In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—National defence headquarters is making a study of the question of personal liberties of the peacetime Canadian soldier and it is believed to be somewhat similar to one proceeding in Britain's war office.

The British probe was disclosed in London by Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

"In general," said the chief of the Imperial General Staff, "I believe, that the trained soldier, when not required for duty, should be free to go where he pleases and return to his quarters when he pleases."

He said the war office study would cover such subjects as "lights out," tattoo roll calls, short passes and similar rules tied to the traditional military way of life.

Financial and other inducements have already been offered in an effort to swell Canada's lagging pool of peacetime recruits for the permanent army.

These include an end to the double-decker beds and numerous chances for in-service training that would lead to pay increases. At the same time it was announced "certain prewar regulations that infringe on domestic personal liberties" were being eased or abolished. This was aimed at giving married veterans a better chance for decent home life with their families.

Canadians Know Civil Duties Better Than Rights, Poll Finds

By Canadian Institute of Public Opinion
TORONTO—Only a quarter of the adult Canadian population has ever been summoned to appear as a witness in court.

Eighty-three per cent know that a citizen is obliged to appear as a witness if subpoenaed.

Half the adult population believe the police may arrest and jail a person without a warrant.

Only half have a correct understanding of what official is authorized to sign a warrant.

These are highlights of the evidence of the public's knowledge of civil rights and obligations revealed by the latest Gallup Poll of an accurate cross-section of Canadians of voting age.

Women and younger voters are less frequently called upon to give testimony in court, the institute found in the response to the question:

"Have you ever been called upon to appear as witness in court?"

	Yes	No
National	24%	76%
Men	31%	69%
Women	19%	81%
21-29 years	14%	86%
30-49 years	22%	78%
50 and over	30%	70%

Opportunity to fulfil a civil duty affects the extent of the people's knowledge of rights and obligations.

THEY KNOW
When the same persons were asked:

"Do you happen to know whether or not you must appear as a witness, if summoned?"

they replied:

	Yes, obliged	No, not obliged	Don't know
National	83%	12%	5%
Men	82%	13%	5%
Women	84%	11%	5%

But those who had not been called upon were notably less informed:

	Persons called upon	Persons never called upon
Yes, obliged	82%	79%
No, not obliged	12%	15%
Don't know	6%	6%

In general, the foregoing reflects widespread correct knowledge of a typical area of civil duty. On matters of civil rights there is evidence of less popular understanding. In the same poll, the institute reporters asked the public:

"Certain actions of the police are legal only if a warrant is issued. Do you know who must sign a warrant?"

Only 50 per cent knew the correct answer.

The same persons were then asked:

"Do you know whether or not a policeman needs a warrant to arrest a person and lock him up in a jail?"

The response indicates the limitations of popular knowledge of civil rights and the tendency to take an "unqualified" view on matters of arrest and detention:

	Nat.	Que.	ex-Que.
Yes, need a warrant	23%	56%	24%
No, doesn't need one	59%	27%	58%
Qualified	8%	8%	8%
Don't know	10%	13%	9%

On matters relating to the rights of arrested persons, the Canadian public is better informed.

Reporters asked:

"Which of these things are within the rights of an arrested person? (a) To have a lawyer advise him before or during questioning by the police? (b) To be told exactly what crime he has been arrested for? (c) To have his friends or family called to come and arrange bail? (d) To refuse to answer questions asked him by the police about the crime of which he is accused?"

A good majority replied correctly on each of the four points: Have a lawyer advise, etc., within rights, 80 per cent; not within rights, 8 per cent; don't know, 12 per cent. Be told exactly what crime, etc., within rights, 82 per cent; not within rights, 4 per cent; don't know, 14 per cent. Have family called, etc., 87 per cent; not within rights, 8 per cent; don't know, 8 per cent. Refuse to answer, etc., within rights, 84 per cent; not within rights, 15 per cent; don't know, 11 per cent.

Women and younger voters (between the ages of 21 and 29) were somewhat less certain about these rights than were men and older persons. Despite the high majorities with correct knowledge on each point, not all the same persons expressed an affirmative view on all four.

Incompleteness of knowledge of civil rights is revealed in the following aggregate percentage of the total sample interviewed who said all four were within the rights of an arrested person:

All four within rights: Nat. 67%, Men 67%, Women 67% (World Copyright Reserved.)

Flying Club Still Wants Gordon Head; Would Develop It

Victoria Flying Club today wrote Ald. B. J. Gadsden, chairman of the Greater Victoria Airport Committee, asking for permission to discuss possibilities of developing the naval property at Gordon Head as a private flying field.

The club suggests that the council should continue its negotiations with War Assets Corporation to obtain the property, and asks that its members be permitted to meet with the airport committee "before the priority with War Assets on the naval property is relinquished."

F. J. Kennelly, club secretary, in his letter said that his organization was perturbed over the opinions expressed by Hon. C. D. Howe on airport development here.

He continued that his organization was firmly convinced that the Gordon Head site is ideal for light plane operation. "Greater Victoria stands to profit a great deal from air facilities at Gordon Head," he said, pointing out it would cater to tourists from U.S. and other parts of Canada.

He suggested the committee should agree with Mr. Howe on the Pat Bay proposals for large commercial airliners but stand by the original intention to provide flying facilities in Greater Victoria with a grass field for light aircraft.

Only in the event that the committee abandons the Gordon Head project entirely would the Flying Club want to step into the picture independently, he indicated.

No More Sugar Expected

Increase in the sugar ration for individuals and industrial consumers, announced in Ottawa, is not expected to bring more sugar for British Columbia beekeepers, in the opinion of provincial agriculture department officials.

Some time ago the Wartime Prices and Trade Board outlined its policy for making sugar available for beekeepers. It is not expected that this policy, set for the 1946-47 feeding season, will be changed.

Veterans' Counsellors Elect Prof. Chant

VANCOUVER (CP)—Prof. S. N. F. Chant of Vancouver was elected first chairman of the Canadian Veterans' Counsellors Committee at the closing meeting of the Canadian conference of veterans' counsellors here Wednesday.

The committee is the first of its kind in Canada, and was formed to co-ordinate and provide professional guidance to student veterans' advisers. It will also act as a liaison body between counsellors and the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

Prof. Chant, head of the psychology department at University of British Columbia, is a former director-general of rehabilitation with the D.V.A. and was head of the personnel selection board of the R.C.A.F. during the war.

Other members of the committee include Dr. W. Line, University of Toronto; Rev. Raymond Shevenell, University of Ottawa, and Dr. A. Cook, University of Alberta.

Clemency For Nazi

HERFORD, Germany (AP)—Death sentence imposed on Karl Krille, 23, by a British military government court for displaying a portrait of Adolph Hitler with Nazi slogans and signs, has been reduced to two years' imprisonment. It was announced officially. Roman Catholic and Protestant churches asked for clemency for Krille.

Vines' Brilliant 65 Paces Canadian Golf

WINNIPEG (CP)—You can never harm your game by practice and this theory, carried over from the days when he was one of the world's outstanding tennis players, today has put the lanky and affable Ellsworth Vines in the spot as the hottest golfer on the professional tournament circuit at present.

The bespectacled 35-year-old Chicago pro, who switched permanently to golf as a livelihood after annexing the world's professional singles tennis championship in 1934-35-36 and 1938, and before that the United States national amateur singles title in 1931-32, today entered the second round of the $10,000 Canadian Professional Golfers' Association open tournament in front by firing a spectacular seven-under-par 65 in the first 18 holes yesterday.

That par-shattering, record-equalling round for this tricky 6,504-yard layout gave the former tennis champion a four-stroke lead over four others, including a Canadian amateur and professional, in a field of more than 80 top links artists from Canada and the United States in search of first-place money of $2,000.

The practice-playing theory for perfection as much as possible in his game wasn't enough for even a minute after he equalled this record, set in 1931 by Eric Banister of Winnipeg, now 61, and one of those who up a walloping 86 in the first round.

Less than an hour after wiping the perspiration from his brow following his last putt for par-four, the six-foot-two opening round leader wrapped his golf bag around his caddy's shoulders and quietly slipped away from the crowd to practice his putting and his short-hand game.

MOST IMPROVED
"He's the most improved player in the game today," Fred Corcoran, United States P.G.A. tournament manager, said after Vines' brilliant opening effort. "He has worked awfully hard at the game in recent months just as he did in his tennis-playing days. No one knows better than him that only continuous practice will put him at the supreme top where he was in tennis."

The runner-up quartette of Freddie Wood of Vancouver, amateur Nick Winesick of Toronto and Windsor, Ont., long-hitting Jimmy Thomson of Los Angeles and New York and George Fazio of Los Angeles held the lead with 69s until Vines' coasted home.

A stroke behind these four came Freddie Haas Jr., of New Orleans, La., and little Eddie Furgot of Pontiac, Mich. Five players, headed by British open champion Sammy Sneath of Hot Springs, Va., followed in the next spot with 71s.

The others were Stan Leonard of Vancouver, runner-up in this year's Canadian open at Montreal, Dick Metz of Arkansas City, beaten out for that title by Fazio in a 18-hole playoff, Lawson Little, former British and U.S. amateur titleholder and U.S. open champion, and Jim Ferrier of Chicago.

Junior Title Tennis Tourney Next Week
Vancouver Island junior tennis championships will be held at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club Aug. 12 to 17. The tournament is being sponsored by the local club.

Boys' and girls' singles, doubles and mixed events will be held in two age classes, under 18 years and under 16.

Prizes will be awarded the winners and runners-up in each event. Entries are already coming in from local and up-land points and it is to be hoped that public court players from Victoria as well as the junior members of all tennis clubs on the island will support the tournament.

Entries may be mailed to the junior tournament manager, Victoria Lawn Tennis Club, or made by phone to Beacon 1923.

APPS WILL RETIRE
TORONTO (CP)—Syl Apps, one of the greatest centre ice players in professional hockey Wednesday night announced he would retire from hockey after one more season with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The announcement was made through coach Hap Day of the Leafs, while Apps was getting in shape; clearing land on his Fenelon Falls, Ont., property.

HOYLE-BROWN, CIROS ALL EVEN IN Senior 'A' Men's Fastball Final

The city A men's fastball play-off fight has developed into a keen, tight campaign. Manager Lloyd Jones' Hoyle-Brown big apple nine last evening made the count read all even at one win apiece when they took the measure of Jim O'Connor's Ciro's 12 to 10 at Central Park in an exciting duel in which three round-trip smashes were clouted.

Ciro's took the first game of the series 4 to 0. The second tangle finished in a sawoff after 11 innings and was wiped out.

Frank Collier and Hap Milliken, Hoyle-Brown batters, were the heavy hitters of the evening. In five trips to the plate they hit three times each, Collier including two homers with none on each time. Hoyle-Brown got off the offerings of Ciro's hurler Joe Bryant for 16 hits. From the combined offerings of Norm Martin and Stan Tenning, Ciro's got 10 bingles. Martin took over from Tenning in the fourth and got the nod as the winning twirler.

Angling

By "CAP" THORSEN
While the majority of anglers after salmon at Sannich Inlet over the week-end scored healthy baskets of grilse—there was the odd angler who scored a silver in the button-weight category.

One of these was George Bridges, Jr. He was fishing the Stonehouse waters with Ben Thomas and reeled in his first button-winning fish, 30 1/2 pounds, to qualify for a silver emblem.

A Hanson plug, 300 feet of wire line and a planer did the trick.

GEORGE BRIDGES JR. His silver button catch

Don McLean, last year's big-fish catch champion in the V.S.I.A.A., who is shooting for a repeat of his 1945 victory, took a 21 1/2 pound specimen. R. Atherton bagged a 17 1/2-pounder.

Salmon going 18 pounds was caught recently by Albert Taylor, Calgary visitor, off Willis Point with a Hanson and planer. Other notable catches were: Ian May, 21 pounds, Hanson plug, Monday evening; Capt. Torrible, 23 pounds, Lucky Louie plug, Monday evening; Scotty McKenzie and Dick Boscense, last Thursday, salmon weighing 12, 17, 20 and 23 on Wonder spoons. Scotty got another 23-pounder Sunday.

From around the arm today the report was that grilse are still plentiful with the colour and jack-spinkles showing in better numbers. Grilse catches were in the double figures for many boats seeking them fishing light with spinner and worm.

NO GRILSE LIMIT
About the limit on the quantity of grilse allowed at this time of year. The game regulations set limits for the period of Jan. 1 to May 31, but at the present time there is no limit on quantity. However, eight inches is the size limit.

OAK BAY GRILSE IN
From Oak Bay word came from Johnny Boyker that a big run of grilse has arrived. Good catches are the order on gang spoons and worm and spinner and worm.

Ross (Bud) Hocking, Ab and Daphne Dean found South Saturna Island waters fertile for grilse fishing last week-end, their gang-spoon lures taking a half a hundred grilse.

Bits and Pieces—Game department reports on trout in the Alberni district, Great Central Lake, good trolling top end; Deep Lake, good fly fishing; Elsie Lake, fair in evenings; Sprout Lake, fair trolling top end; Nahmint Lake, good trolling; McBride Lake, fair; Campbell Lakes recommended for fair brand of fishing. Ron Hopkins reeled in two salmon near 25-pound mark at Cowichan Bay Sunday. Small-mouth bass fishing in lakes on lower island reported encouraging.

Capt. Harry Robinson, fly fishing, took a basket of four brown trout above the falls on Cowichan River. He lost two others. The browns were planted in the river many years ago. His top weight specimen went five pounds.

Esquimalt Baseball Nine Midget Winners
Esquimalt Taxi defeated Ker Electric 9 to 1 in the opening game of their semifinal midget series in the minor baseball loop last evening. It was a keen game for five-and-a-half frames. The taximen went to work in the last of the sixth to send eight runners over the sacks—their margin of victory.

RIDING CLUB MEETING
The annual meeting of the Victoria Riding Club was held Monday. Officers for next year were elected. Plans were made for the fall horse show to be held Saturday, Oct. 5.

Sooke junior boy fastballers defeated Langford 25 to 8 in the opening game of the best-of-three playoff for the Tergeson Brothers Trophy.

Peter Salmon Scores Triple Win At Kelowna
KELOWNA—Coach Archie McKinnon's Flying "Y" swim stars from Victoria were repeating their success of last year as the current Kelowna regatta got under way here Wednesday. The Victoria youngsters stand a good chance of repeating their team aggregate triumph of 1945.

Peter Salmon, now graduated to the senior ranks after a brilliant record as a junior, won the 100-yard men's freestyle open to lift the Hudson's Bay Cup. His time was 59 seconds. Salmon also registered a win in the 100-yard breaststroke, B.C. championship, with Len Coverdale also of Victoria second, and registered his third victory in the 150-yard men's open medley.

ERIC JUBB WINNER
Other victories were registered by Ina Salmon in the 50-yard open women's backstroke for the provincial title; 300-yard medley relay; Eric Jubb in the 100-yard breaststroke junior boys; 200-yard relay-junior boys.

Irene Strong of Vancouver took three firsts, including the mile, 150-yard medley and 100-yard open.

Results follow:
150-yard medley relay, back, breast, freestyle, junior boys: British Columbia championship: Victoria, Y.M.C.A.; Vancouver, A.S.C.; 2, Victoria A.S.C. Time 1:21 1/2-1:3.

150-yard medley swim, back, breast and freestyle, men's open: Peter Salmon, Victoria, Y.M.C.A.; 2, Bud Hill, Victoria, A.S.C.; 3, Terry Mullen, Seattle, A.C. Time 1:21 1/2-1:3.

100-yard breaststroke, junior girls: British Columbia championship: 1, Joan Ashley, V.A.S.C.; 2, Myrland, Nisene Victoria; 3, Shirley Castle, Vancouver A.S.C. Time, 38-39.

Major Baseball Roundup Injuries Bench Stars

"Old Man Injury" is in one of his most merciless moods today as, one by one, key players of major league baseball teams join already overcrowded hospital lists.

Heading the list of ailing non-combatants are such topnotch performers as Bob Feller, Cleveland Indians; Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox; Johnny Mize and Buddy Kerr, New York Giants; Johnny Berardino, St. Louis Browns; Pete Reiser and Harry Lavagetto, Brooklyn Dodgers; Stan Hack, Chicago Cubs and Schoolboy Rowe of the Phillies.

The absence of Williams, Pesky and Higgins is causing no great alarm on the hub front as the American League-leading Red Sox have two commanding a lead with the season two-thirds gone. With the New York Yankees' 4 to 3 defeat by the Senators in Washington last night, the idle Sox increased their margin over their nearest rivals to 13 full games.

Besides, Williams, who sat out the last two Red Sox contests with a mild fever, and Pesky, sidelined by a sprained ankle, and both expected back within a day or two. Higgins, out with a sprained ligament in his leg, will not be ready for at least another week.

TOUGH ON DODGERS
It is a different story with the Dodgers, whose National League lead was trimmed to 1 1/2 games last night when the challenging St. Louis Cardinals overpowered the last-place Pirates 8 to 1 at Pittsburgh. Two of their regulars, outfielder Pete Reiser and third baseman Harry Lavagetto, are out of action with head and leg injuries respectively, while second baseman Eddie Stanky, bothered by a foot ailment, is playing on nerve alone. The players are expected back in action soon, but it remains to be seen whether their layoff has diminished their batting eye. The Cleveland Indians fell 3 1/2 games behind the fourth-place Senators when the White Sox overcame a 3 to 0 deficit to nose out the tribe, 4 to 3, in Chicago. Rained out of their game with the Dodgers yesterday, the sixth-place Giants are only 4 1/2 games away from the fourth-place Boston Braves, who were washed out of the twin bill with Philadelphia Phillies.

St. Louis Browns, despite the absence of second baseman Berardino, their leading hitter, edged out Detroit Tigers, 3 to 2. AMERICAN LEAGUE
New York Yankees 10, Boston Red Sox 4, 10 innings.
Batteries—Chandler, Murphy and Hooper; Newcom and Early, Evans.
Detroit 12, St. Louis Browns 3, 12 1/2.
Batteries—Trout and Tebbets; Murrell and Heif.
Chicago 4, Philadelphia Phillies 1, 11 1/2.
Batteries—Reynolds and Hegan; Rogers, Hollander and Hayes.
NATIONAL LEAGUE
St. Louis Cardinals 12, Pittsburgh Pirates 1, 9 1/2.
Batteries—Brechen and Rice; Ostermiller, Tallett, Bahr, Gerbeaux and Lopez, Baker.

Storemen Defeat Youthful Cricketers
Colts, representing the city's youngest generation in cricket, suffered a 163 to 32 defeat at the hands of Jim Oakman's Spencer's eleven yesterday.

The storemen went down to defeat to the Colts last week in the first game of the elders vs. youngsters series arranged by the Victoria and District Cricket Association.

Spencer's Tom Harper and Oakman were the big names at bat in the fixtures. Before being retired Harper scored 55 runs and the team skipper 48.

Top bowler was George Gardiner. He got four wickets for 14 runs. Jack Gibbs scored eight runs to top scores made by Colt individuals. Spencer's were definitely superior in bowling and fielding.

Bowling Tournament Behind Schedule; More Greens Needed
The crying need for more lawn bowling clubs in the greater city area to allow schedules to be executed to their fullest in tournaments such as the present six-day international event in progress with an entry topping all former attractions, is keenly felt by officials of the sponsoring Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association.

The lack of greens' space has resulted in the association curtailing its program. Several events, originally scheduled have had to be eliminated in order to complete play in the time schedule.

Oak Bay has been the association's hope for many years—a hope that this municipality would start a club within its boundaries.

Alderman Bob Dewar, an ardent bowler who has his home decorated with many trophies depicting his prowess with the bowls, was on hand at the Beacon Hill greens as a spectator last night and noted that Oak Bay had been on the verge of organizing a club "for at least 10 years to my knowledge, but somehow or other it never materialized."

He went on to say that he was sure there were many residents of the municipality who would greatly welcome the formation of such a club. Victoria City has three clubs—Victoria at Beacon Hill and Canadian Pacific behind the Crystal Garden and Victoria West at Vic West Park. Sannich has two, Burnside and Lake Hill. Esquimalt and Oak Bay are without greens.

The whole of yesterday until 10 at night under the lights play took place in the men's doubles, the pennant system on four club greens. But only three or four matches were completed. In the women's doubles, played at Vic West, only three rounds were run off. Today's menu was doubles for both sexes during the day, and this evening singles competitions will be resumed. A. L. Urry, tournament manager, reports that players in the men's singles this evening will play on the same grounds as earlier in the week.

Tomorrow's highlight will be the mixed rinks battles—rinks composed of two men and two women—in which the four top rinks meet in the playoffs. While it was hoped earlier that all finals could be completed Saturday morning, it is figured now that the whole of that day will be required to write "finis" to the various competitions. Saturday night, at 7.30, at Prince Robert House, the association will hold its tournament windup with a prize presentation and entertainment.

Rainiers Score Second Straight Win Over Leaders

A double victory over the third-ranking Los Angeles Angels yesterday, 6 to 0 and 5 to 3, stretched Sacramento's string of triumphs to nine straight and left the once deeply sunken club 17 games from the top of the Coast League.

Seattle's doormat Rainiers also climbed on the bandwagon for their best show of the season, increasing their winning streak to four straight on their second successive drubbing of the leading San Francisco Seals 4 to 2.

The victory was hurled Lou Tost's 10th of the season, against nine losses, and he struck out 13 and held the Seals to five hits. Kermit Lewis, a former Seal, tripped home the final two Seattle runs in the sixth frame. The loss was chalked to Bill Aerle, who allowed 10 safeties.

TORGESON HURT
Earl Torgeson, promising and expensive Seattle first baseman eyed by the Boston Braves, suffered a shoulder injury in a slide into third base and may be out for two weeks or more.

San Francisco maintained its three-game advantage over the second-place Oakland A's, edged out 3 to 2 by the San Diego Padres in 11 innings. The Padres purred across the winning tally on two errors charged to leftfielder Brooks Holder. The Padres collected seven hits of Rugger Adizola, while the A's reached Manual Salvo for 10.

The Holywood Stars, whose manager, Robert (Buck) Fausett, submitted his resignation to take effect at the season's end about the time the Solons knocked his club out of the first division, shaded the Portland Beavers 4 to 1.

One Knockout In Local Fight Show
Gordie Grayston, local heavyweight, outpointed Gordie Gordienko to take the decision in the feature attraction of last night's boxing show at the Crystal Garden. Grayston's superior experience stood him in good stead.

The evening's knockout was executed by Able Seaman Betchell, H.M.C.S. Naden, in the fourth bout. He landed a right cross on Morish that floored the latter in the final session of their three-rounder. Other bouts saw A. S. Clements gain a decision over Lionel Speller, Hutchinson defeat Russell by decision, Conlin take the measure of Naegell on points, Woods of Naden outpoint O'Connor. Semi-windup match was canceled owing to the fact one of the fighters could not appear.

ATHENA WINNER
CHICAGO (AP)—Athena, Hal Price Headley's speedy filly, won the $28,200 Artful Handicap for three-year-old fillies at Washington Park Wednesday, defeating Widow's Peak by 1 1/4 lengths, with Trixie, a 15-to-1 shot, third. Athena returned $15.20, $8.40 and $5.80 and sprinted the seven furlongs in 1.23.

A's Look Miserable In Losing Twin Bill

Victoria's ever faithful baseball fans got really critical of the Athletics for the first time this season as the local club dropped a pair of loosely-played games to Yakima Stars last night. Scores in the Western International League doubleheader were 6 to 5, in seven innings and 13 to 8 in six. Matters became so bad the customers were walking out of the park in the early stages of the second fixture.

Even Johnny Johnson, president of the club, and one of the team's most ardent supporters, was fed up. "The two games tonight are the worst here this season and I don't blame the fans for their caustic remarks," he said. Although manager Ted Norbert had little to say one could tell by his general attitude he felt badly on the exhibitions turned in by the Athletics.

Since first baseman Vic Buscola left the club last week-end the players seem to have lost their hustle and pep. The boys were dead in the field last night and was easily on a par with the squad that performed here early in the season. However, at that time the fans were ready to bear with the new club but now they expect something better for their money.

TOSS AWAY OPENER
Five unearned Yakima runs tell the story of the first game. Break came in the third inning when starting pitcher Pee Wee Bass struck out Moore for the third should have been the third out but catcher Stumpf, after taking the ball off the ground, failed to touch the batter or make the throw to first. Instead he rolled the ball on the ground towards the mound and before it could be retrieved Moore was on first base and Yakima went on to score the first three runs of the game. The Athletics never did get back on even terms. Although the Victoria club was charged with four errors.

About the only real thrill of the night came in the second game when the Athletics, behind 10 to 1 going in to the last of the fourth came up with a seven-run rally, featured by Pete Hughes' three-run homer, to get within striking distance.

But in the next inning outfielder Frankie Crimé dropped an easy fly ball in left field for what would have been the third out and two runs scampered across the plate. That made the score 13 to 8, one runner having previously scored, and any chance the A's had went aglimmering. With two runners on in the sixth Hughes lined into a double play and the game was called owing to the curfew.

As in the first game the A's came up with four errors. Tommy Musgrave opened on the mound but left after three and two-thirds innings with a record of 11 hits for 10 runs and was nicked for the loss. Dumeah and Oliver worked the rest of the way.

Simon and Romple were the winning pitchers for Yakima. Clubs meet in the fourth game tonight, starting at 8.

A five-run ninth-inning outburst brought Spokane an 11 to 10 victory over Bremerton last night. The loss dropped the navy yard nine three full games behind leading Wenatchee which took advantage of five Tacoma errors to paste the Tigers 8 to 2.

Third place Salem got back into winning ways with a 9 to 5 triumph over Vancouver.

The Spokane triumph was a "gift" from Bremerton's ace hurler, Clarence Federmeyer, who walked in the winning tally. Spokane had moved into an early lead in the contest on outfielder Dave Pluss' three-run homer only to have Bremerton surge back with a 16-hit attack to take a 10 to 6 lead at the last inning.

Victoria's ever faithful baseball fans got really critical of the Athletics for the first time this season as the local club dropped a pair of loosely-played games to Yakima Stars last night. Scores in the Western International League doubleheader were 6 to 5, in seven innings and 13 to 8 in six. Matters became so bad the customers were walking out of the park in the early stages of the second fixture.

Even Johnny Johnson, president of the club, and one of the team's most ardent supporters, was fed up. "The two games tonight are the worst here this season and I don't blame the fans for their caustic remarks," he said. Although manager Ted Norbert had little to say one could tell by his general attitude he felt badly on the exhibitions turned in by the Athletics.

Since first baseman Vic Buscola left the club last week-end the players seem to have lost their hustle and pep. The boys were dead in the field last night and was easily on a par with the squad that performed here early in the season. However, at that time the fans were ready to bear with the new club but now they expect something better for their money.

TOSS AWAY OPENER
Five unearned Yakima runs tell the story of the first game. Break came in the third inning when starting pitcher Pee Wee Bass struck out Moore for the third should have been the third out but catcher Stumpf, after taking the ball off the ground, failed to touch the batter or make the throw to first. Instead he rolled the ball on the ground towards the mound and before it could be retrieved Moore was on first base and Yakima went on to score the first three runs of the game. The Athletics never did get back on even terms. Although the Victoria club was charged with four errors.

About the only real thrill of the night came in the second game when the Athletics, behind 10 to 1 going in to the last of the fourth came up with a seven-run rally, featured by Pete Hughes' three-run homer, to get within striking distance.

But in the next inning outfielder Frankie Crimé dropped an easy fly ball in left field for what would have been the third out and two runs scampered across the plate. That made the score 13 to 8, one runner having previously scored, and any chance the A's had went aglimmering. With two runners on in the sixth Hughes lined into a double play and the game was called owing to the curfew.

As in the first game the A's came up with four errors. Tommy Musgrave opened on the mound but left after three and two-thirds innings with a record of 11 hits for 10 runs and was nicked for the loss. Dumeah and Oliver worked the rest of the way.

Simon and Romple were the winning pitchers for Yakima. Clubs meet in the fourth game tonight, starting at 8.

A five-run ninth-inning outburst brought Spokane an 11 to 10 victory over Bremerton last night. The loss dropped the navy yard nine three full games behind leading Wenatchee which took advantage of five Tacoma errors to paste the Tigers 8 to 2.

Third place Salem got back into winning ways with a 9 to 5 triumph over Vancouver.

The Spokane triumph was a "gift" from Bremerton's ace hurler, Clarence Federmeyer, who walked in the winning tally. Spokane had moved into an early lead in the contest on outfielder Dave Pluss' three-run homer only to have Bremerton surge back with a 16-hit attack to take a 10 to 6 lead at the last inning.

Keen Boxla Fight Expected Tonight

Sole occupation of second berth in the Victoria boxla circuit will be decided this evening in the Stevenson Park box when Keith Ludbrook's Foul Bay unit and Sid Anderson's Tillicum Athletic Club clash in what should prove to be an exciting webbed-strike fight. Each side has a record of three wins. Game starts at 6.30.

Objectors Release Badly Timed

Agriculture Minister Frank Putnam, said today the release, planned for Aug. 15, of 2,000 conscientious objectors, many of them working on British Columbia farms, would come at a difficult time for the farmers and he would hold discussions with department officials shortly to see if anything could be done about it.

Bulk of the conscientious objectors in the province are employed on farms, many of them in the dairy farms of the Fraser Valley. There are few, if any, employed on farms on Vancouver Island.

The conscientious objectors, after Aug. 15, will be permitted to return to their homes or continue working on farms at the current rate of pay. During the war the conscientious objectors, who also worked in British Columbia forest camps, assisting in fire control and other work, received pay from the government or their employers, part of which was turned over to the Canadian Red Cross.

CHEAP LUMBER

Cut lumber at less than the price of wood. This lumber cannot be sold commercially at the sawmill because of being offsize, too much bark, splits, checks or pitch streaks, but hundreds of loads are being sold, and pieces picked out to repair barns, sidewalks, fences, and garden stakes. Even if all this lumber were cut into wood it would be cheap inside wood and a load will make about 15 cords. Especially handy for people who live outside of town and find it hard to get good wood. This lumber is in 1, 2, 3 and 4-inch boards and planks, and timbers up to 20 feet long.

Labor Group Says Ottawa Intimidating War Labor Boards

"Intimidation" by federal authorities of Regional Labor Boards in settling wage questions was condemned here Wednesday night by the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council.

The council, following a meeting, announced:

"These boards are set up for the specific purpose of deciding wage issues and should not be interfered with by any party not appointed for that purpose."

This action of the council followed a report from Vancouver that the B.C. War Labor Board had clamped a 10-cent ceiling on hourly wage increases until the House of Commons industrial relations committee had made recommendations.

Previously John Bruce, international representative of the Plumbers' and Steamfitters' Union, had outlined the present wage policies of the federal government and the possible effect they might have on the workers within the next few weeks. Mr. Bruce took exception to the shipbuilding policy of the Dominion government and the government's policy on housing.

CONDEMN INJUNCTION

The council endorsed the stand of the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council in forwarding a letter to the chairman of the committee of industrial relations urging the committee recommend that in the interest of progress, harmony and maintenance of decent living standards the use of the injunction in industrial disputes be abolished.

The council was told the use of the injunction in labor disputes was not new in Canada but it had never solved a problem or ended a strike. For that reason Great Britain had abolished injunctions in labor disputes 40 years ago.

Charles Chivers announced the international representative of the Plasterers' Union would be in Victoria to address plasterers to night.

It was announced in a letter that the Veteran-Labor Consultative Council intended to call another city-wide conference to discuss housing.

The following delegates were seated: Douglas E. Campbell for the Bakery Workers' Union; William Campbell for the International Longshoremen's Association; and H. Crellin, K. McLeod and F. D. Elford for the Electrical Workers' Union.

B.C. Dissatisfied With Social Aid In Vancouver

The provincial government may find it necessary to take some action on the distribution of social assistance in Vancouver, Provincial Secretary George S. Pearson said today.

Indicating the government was dissatisfied with the administration in Vancouver, Mr. Pearson said, however, that before any action is taken discussions between provincial government and Vancouver authorities will be held.

In the meantime the government will halt deductions from social assistance funds for any purposes other than direct social assistance, he said.

Mr. Pearson said he had allowed a 6 per cent deduction from amounts to be paid for relief cases to be made for providing clothing, formerly issued free. The committee in Vancouver, as a result, has built up a substantial surplus from these deductions, out of which it has been paying for things that were rightly the responsibility of the city social welfare department.

Passes Suddenly

Mrs. W. H. Whiteley, relief of the late widely-known Victoria sealer and pilot, died suddenly at her home, 1623 Cook Street, today.

Mrs. Whiteley, who was 74 years of age, attended the Government House garden party Wednesday. She was a member of Metropolitan Church and a prominent worker in church circles.

On Visit To City

Mrs. E. M. Statler, honorary chairman of the Statler Hotel chain, is now visiting Victoria and is a guest at the Empress Hotel.

Mrs. Statler, although she believes the present boom in hotel business will continue, does not expect to see the business expand while high building costs remain.

She became chairman of the hotel chain on her husband's death, but relinquished the active post a year ago although retaining her interest in the business. Accompanying Mrs. Statler on her holiday are Col. and Mrs. Alan Tappan, Mansfield, Ohio.

Alleges Discrimination Against Hospitals Shown In Cancellation Of Nurses' Permits

Shortage of nurses which prevents operation of the Jubilee Hospital's new maternity building is causing uneasiness and disappointment among Victorians who contributed money for its construction and equipment.

This fact was stressed at the meeting Wednesday of a special committee of hospital directors appointed to study all aspects of the nursing shortage which is causing 80 beds to remain unoccupied at the Jubilee.

Directors pointed to the case of the Victoria doctor's wife who was brought to the Jubilee Wednesday with a badly broken ankle. She had to wait in the treatment room for four hours before attendants could arrange for a room.

Discussing the cancellation by the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C. of permits to nurses from other provinces hospital authorities agreed that allowing these nurses to practice here would alleviate the situation but not cure it.

PROVED SATISFACTORY

"Continuation of the special permits," said a director, "would, however, be the means of obtaining more nurses. Up to now they have proved satisfactory."

A Victoria doctor today stressed that cancellation of permits meant discrimination against institutions with schools of nursing where nurses from other provinces were being forced to withdraw. He noted that statistics showed these hospitals care for 50 per cent of the patients in the province.

He took issue with the statement of Alice Wright, head of the Registered Nurses' Association of B.C., when she said the number of registered nurses in practice in B.C. increased 55 per cent with 977 nurses from other provinces registering in B.C. during the war.

"This did not increase the nursing service to the extent the B.C. Police reported today circumstances surrounding the death of Leslie and Wallace Sutcliffe, when their 28-foot gill-netter burned off Dallas Road breakwater Tuesday, have satisfied them the boys met their death by drowning."

Const. N. Flander, who investigated the tragedy with Cpl. L. Backler, said the municipal police figures would indicate," he said. "For instance wives of members of the armed forces registered and nursed for a month or two. Nurses from the east registered and worked long enough to pay for a trip to the coast."

He pointed out that with the increase of more than 30,000 in Victoria's population hospitals here had been operating for the last four years at from 90 to 105 per cent of capacity.

Because of the desperate shortage of nurses he doubted anyone in B.C. had questioned the legal right of the nursing association to issue temporary permits.

He noted that Miss Wright had stated there were 467 vacancies listed with the placement service conducted by the association and that less than one-third of these were for hospitals conducting schools for nursing.

"I would like to know," he said, "how many of these requests for nurses came from the Department of Veterans' Affairs."

"In effect," he said, "Miss Wright's statements mean that girls who are losing their permits can go on nursing privately in B.C. but not in institutions which are crying for them."

Two Victoria Boys Lost Off Harbor

LESLIE SUTCLIFFE, 19

WALLACE SUTCLIFFE, 14

B.C. Police reported today circumstances surrounding the death of Leslie and Wallace Sutcliffe, when their 28-foot gill-netter burned off Dallas Road breakwater Tuesday, have satisfied them the boys met their death by drowning.

Const. N. Flander, who investigated the tragedy with Cpl. L. Backler, said the municipal police forces, boathouses and owners of small boats had been asked to be on the lookout for the bodies of the two Victoria boys.

The charred hull of the gill-netter has been left on the reef and B.C. Police have informed the New Westminster insurance company, with which the boat was insured, and the collector of customs, who is receiver of wrecks.

Unions Here Ask Formation Of National Labor Party

The Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council will ask the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, during the annual convention to be held in Windsor, Ont., next month, to set up a national political arm aimed at the establishment of a national labor party drawing support from all labor groups as well as farmers and other progressive organizations.

The council at a meeting Wednesday night approved 12 resolutions to be sent to the convention. Other resolutions may also be prepared.

Preamble to the resolution on the national labor party notes recent events in both Canada and the U.S. have proven economic action by the labor movement is not in itself sufficient to bring about an improved standard of living of the workers and labor movements in Britain and New Zealand have found it necessary to have their own political movement to attain success in the economic field.

The resolution also said this action was urged because no definite action had been taken on previous instructions to secure adequate labor representation in the Canadian Parliament.

Another resolution urged the Trade and Labor Congress approach the Canadian Congress of Labor and other legitimate trade union organizations to set up a united, all-Canadian labor organization.

Other points in the resolutions asked:

1. Payment of old age pensions begin at 60 years, the means tests be abolished, pensions be increased to $50 a month and a bonus be paid to compensate for rising living costs.

2. The federal government adopt an overall social insurance plan to be financed by a weekly contribution for all benefits to include payments for maternity, unemployment, family and orphans allowance, health and sickness benefits, widows pensions, retirement pensions, industrial injuries, vocational training allowances and health benefits.

3. The Dominion government amend the B.N.A. Act to give it authority to set national minimum labor standards, and a convention be called to draft a new labor code.

4. Maintenance and re-establishment of price controls and subsidies.

5. Action by the Dominion government to marshal materials necessary national wide housing program and divorcing from private banks and mortgage companies of all loans for housing.

6. The Dominion and provincial governments inaugurate a program for planned development of resources, with the institution of necessary public works, to provide full employment and economic security.

7. The Dominion government

Says Low's Charges Without Foundation

OTTAWA (CP) — Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent said today in the Commons there was no foundation for charges by Solon Low, Social Credit leader, in a speech at Noranda, Que., that the Liberal Party had "deliberately courted the Communist Party" during the 1940 election campaign.

Rising on a question of privilege, Mr. St. Laurent referred to a speech made by Mr. Low during the course of a nomination meeting for the federal by-election in Pontiac County next month.

Mr. Low was quoted as saying the government was responsible for the "shameful condition" that was uncovered recently when "so many" government employees were found to have a loyalty higher than that to Canada, and that while the Communist Party had been ostensibly outlawed, the government had hired people of questionable loyalty.

Mr. St. Laurent said he hoped the report was unfair to Mr. Low as it certainly was unfair to Prime Minister King. He was closely enough associated with Mr. King to know there was no foundation for the allegations in the report.

Girl Fatally Injured

EDMONTON (CP) — Patricia Marsden, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marsden of Edmonton was fatally injured Wednesday night when she fell from the third story of an Edmonton hotel.

Police said the accident occurred when the girl, visiting friends in the hotel, lost her balance while fixing a curtain rod. Taken to hospital by ambulance, she was dead on arrival.

Price Of Elephants Up

NEW YORK (AP) — It may not disturb the day-to-day shopper to know the price of an elephant has soared from prewar $1,200 to $3,500—but it has the wild animal merchants in an uproar.

Three of the United States' largest importers of wildlife said they were swamped with orders from zoo directors, circus agents and private collectors, but high prices and food shortages are keeping most such animals in Africa and India.

"Tigers, which used to be $1,200 a pair, are $3,500 now," said Henry Trefflich, animal dealer. Then he got around to monkeys.

"Before the war you could bring in as many as 30,000 monkeys a year. Now India limits monkeys to 10,000 a year."

Just then he wheezed. "Asthma," he said. "Got it from the monkeys. This is a tough business."

Says U.S. Seeks Rule

MOSCOW (AP) — Trud, trade union organ, commenting on the forthcoming Congressional elections in the United States, said today that "American imperialism is trying to gain world rule."

Tourist Travel Up-Island Light, Says G. I. Warren

Although Victoria is experiencing the greatest influx of tourists in its history and all accommodation here is filled to capacity, tourist accommodation north of Nanaimo is still available, according to G. I. Warren, commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Bulk of the tourist travel so far has been south of Nanaimo. Space is now available in northern parts because of the many cancellations of reserved accommodations due to the uncertainty of tourists being able to get to and from the island.

There were also many cancellations of accommodation reserved in Victoria, Mr. Warren continued, but there were so many tourists arriving in Victoria that space made available by the cancellations was immediately taken up.

The bureau was doing everything possible to induce tourists to see the whole island, particularly the districts of Port Alberni, Campbell River and Qualicum, of which the Parksville district is a part, Mr. Warren said. "Each day we point out the attractions which have been made available by the B. C. forestry department."

Of the 96 auto courts, in Victoria and on the island, listed by the bureau, over half are north of Nanaimo.

British Sentence 2 Men, Woman In Germany To Death

RHEINE, Germany (AP) — Tawdry love affairs that spring from three and four families living in one flat or house in this bomb-ravaged country are reflected in a murder case that has brought death sentences to a woman and two men.

The potpourri of personalities in the home of Adolf Dierkes, a tailor, led to tangled romances, suspicions, arguments and finally to Dierkes' murder and plans for another slaying.

British authorities described it as "one of the worst crimes handled so far."

The occupants of Dierkes' home included his wife, Klara, Frau Hea Wedler, Alfons Hartwig and Erich Rudolf.

Dierkes and Rudolf argued and Rudolf decided to find quarters elsewhere.

"This was a source of grievance," said the British report, "because it separated him from Frau Wedler, who, separated from her own husband, had been living with him (Rudolf) for some time."

Dierkes and his wife, Klara, did not get on well together, and a love affair had sprung up between Hartwig and Klara.

"In these circumstances Dierkes became a nuisance and a hindrance to them all and they decided to get rid of him."

Frau Wedler took Dierkes to the "Peace Inn" at Bentlage on the pretext of buying turpentine, and "on the return trip he was bludgeoned to death by Rudolf and Hartwig."

"In addition," the official report continued, "this unholy quartette were found guilty of conspiring to murder Herr Wedler, who had refused to agree to a divorce or to part with his child. The arrests were made before this second murder could be carried out."

Frau Wedler was the first woman to be sentenced to death by a German Civil Court since the British occupation. Hartwig, Rudolf and Frau Dierkes also were sentenced to death, but the court commuted Frau Dierkes' sentence to life imprisonment because she is expecting a baby.

No 'Beef' About This

HOLYOKE, Mass. (CP) — Women shoppers lined up before a large market in search of scarce meat found these comforts provided by their proprietor: A roomy bench, a crystal bowl filled with fruit punch and a tray of pretzels for those who got hungry during their wait.

Pegged At 10 Cents

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia War Labor Board has set 10 cents as the top figure it will grant on hourly wage increase applications until the Commons' industrial relations committee makes its report.

Awards made by the regional board will be treated as "interim" decisions only, said Michael N. McGeough, chief executive officer.

The report brought an immediate protest from labor officials. Earlier in Victoria, Labor Minister Pearson said pay boosts would be pegged at 10 cents an hour.

Negro Admits Killing

EVERETT, Wash. (AP) — Police Capt. M. W. Stevens said Wednesday Snoble Johnson, 27-year-old negro farmhand, had signed a confession he shot Roy Baldwin, 55, negro porter, to death Tuesday after he and three companions dragged Baldwin from an automobile on a business street.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

The DOCTOR Says:

ADULTS NEED THREE QUARTS OF WATER DAILY

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.
Under average conditions, an adult requires about three quarts of water per day, one quart to drink and two quarts supplied in food. Normally, it is not necessary to keep a record of how much water is taken each day, as thirst is a reliable guide.

Drinking large quantities of water as a health measure is not recommended, for it is impossible to flush poisons from the system with water. Excessive quantities of fresh water drunk immediately after strenuous exercise may cause a headache, stomach cramps, and muscle tremors, although salt water does not produce these symptoms.

FOOD CONTAINS WATER
There is a great deal of water in our food, for most vegetables and fruits contain excessive amounts. Oranges, carrots, peaches and tomatoes are made up of between 85 and 95 per cent water. Milk is 85 per cent water. Many meats and fish are composed of a total of from 50 to 65 per cent water.

Another source of water is the burning of foods in the body (oxidization).

Drinking water with meals is not likely to do harm, if it is not used to wash down partially-chewed food. Under normal conditions, when water reaches the stomach it passes over the food mass, and does not mix with it. Drinking ice water or chilled water to relieve thirst is not necessary, as all water is adjusted to body temperature as it reaches the stomach.

DOESN'T DAMAGE KIDNEYS
Part of the extra water finds its way out by way of the urine, but this does not cause any damage to the kidneys. If the body needs water for cooling purposes, much of the excess water appears as sweat.

Loss of water from the body through fever is corrected by the administration of extra amounts of water. If patients cannot absorb water by the mouth, it can be injected into a vein or under the skin. As young children usually have more water in their tissues than do adults, they show signs of water loss more quickly in fever, vomiting and diarrhoea. Dehydration, especially in young children, results in fever.

Infected water may spread diseases, notably those of the intestinal tract (typhoid fever, etc.). In case of doubt concerning the purity of water, it should be boiled; the resultant flat taste can be eliminated by pouring the water through the air from one container to another.

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK HAS WATERFALLS OF GREAT HEIGHT

Victoria Falls, Niagara Falls and the falls of Guayra are very high, but they have nothing like the height of some other falls in this world. These other falls are less well known because they have a smaller volume of water going down, but they make up in height for their small volume.

Take, for example, the falls in Yosemite National park. Those are made by creeks which leap from high, rocky ledges. They include Vernal Falls, Bridal Veil, the Ribbon and Yosemite Falls. The name "Yosemite" is pronounced like "yo-SEM-i-tee." It came from an Indian language, and is believed to have the meaning of "Place of the Grizzly Bear." Yosemite National Park is in east-central California. It covers an area of more than 1,100 square miles.

There are tall cliffs and deep valleys in the park, also gigantic sequoia trees. In summer the valleys are filled with wild flowers, and at any time of the year there is beauty to be found. Vernal Falls tumble 320 feet, and are a bit less than twice as high as Niagara.

The Bridal Veil drops 620 feet. It may be described as a waterfall which is "thin but pretty." The ribbon waterfall comes close to being the tallest in the world. Its water goes down 1,612 feet! Imagine a waterfall coming from the top of the Empire State building and striking the ground (or pavement), below. Such a fall would be 360 feet short of having the height of the ribbon.

Yosemite Falls have three parts. The uppermost part has the greatest drop—1,430 feet. The water then rushes over gently-sloping rock before it leaps again, this time for 800 feet. The third drop is only 320 feet. Altogether the three "leaps" of these falls make a downward drop of about half a mile.
